Rural Jobs On Increase, Data Shows

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department officials said today that the number of jobs in rural areas has increased about twice as fast as in cities since 1970.

Claude C. Haren of the department's Economic Research Service said that between 1970 and 1977 nonfarm employment in rural areas increased 22 per cent, against an 11 per cent gain in the cities.

City employment, however, increased more in absolute terms during the period, a gain of 5.8 million jobs compared with 3.8 million in rural areas.

By category, the largest gain in rural jobs was in service occupations, up 39 per cent; followed by mining, 36 per cent; and finance, insurance and real estate, 34 per cent. Urban employment in those categories rose 28 per cent, 20 per cent and 18 per cent respectively since 1970.

In a related report, the agency said that in farm labor the number of migrant workers jumped 13.3 per cent last year to 213,000 from 188,000 in 1975. A spokesman said that increased crop production and rising costs of mechanical harvesting probably were factors in the increase.

But migrant workers still made up only 8 per cent of the employed farm labor force of about 2.8 million workers last year, the report said. In 1965, the peak year, there were 465,000 migrant farm workers, who made up about 15 per cent of the total hired farm labor.

Claim Somali Units Blast Kenya Post

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The Kenyan government says 3,000 Somali soldiers made a surprise attack on a Kenyan police post near the border, and six Kenyan policemen and seven Somali soldiers died in the battle.

The Kenyan government news agency said 35 more Somali soldiers and four Kenyan were wounded in the fighting Monday at Rhamu, in the northwest corner of the country. The report said the wounded Somalis were taken to a hospital at Bhula Hawa, in Somalia.

The government said it sent troops to the arid Mandera district where the attack occurred, and by Wednesday night the situation there was reported calm again.

The government accused Somalia of an "aggression against the territorial integrity of Kenya" and said the attack "undermines the good relations existing between the two countries."

It also warned that it was entitled to "take any measure to repulse such aggression and protect its peoples and territory from any further incursions of a similar kind."

The two East African countries have a long-standing dispute over the area, but it was not known why the Somali force crossed the border at this time. Somalia has been more concerned recently with giving support to Somali tribesmen in eastern Ethiopia who are fighting a guerrilla war against the Ethiopian government and in its claim to the new republic of Djibouti, its strategically placed little neighbor on the northwest.

Kenya and Somalia signed a peace agreement in 1967 after four years of Somali guerrilla warfare in northern Kenya. But the Somalis continued to raid across the border occasionally.

Somalia's maps, including those used in the schools there, show much of northern Kenya, the Ogaden region of eastern Ethiopia and Djibouti as part of Greater Somalia. Many of the people living in these areas are ethnic Somalis.

Committee OKs Remap Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill majority Democrats want to use to gain more representation in Ohio's congressional delegation has cleared the Senate Elections, Financial Institutions, and Insurance Committee.

The vote early today was 6-3 along party lines, after a parade of Republican witnesses contended the measure is ill-timed, politically unwise for both parties and may be unconstitutional.

Republicans control Ohio's congressional delegation 13-10, having lost a pair of seats in the 1976 elections. Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, sponsor of the current bill, indicated Democrats could pick up two to four more with proposed new district lines contained in the legislation.

Major changes would involve the 2nd and 3rd Congressional Districts, represented, respectively, by Reps. Thomas A. Luken, D-Cincinnati, and Willis D. Graidson, D-Cincinnati; a new 4th District which would have no incumbent living within its borders; the 12th and 15th, now held by Republicans Samuel L. Devine and Chalmers P. Wylie, respectively, and the 11th, a seat held by Rep. J. William Stanton, R-Painesville.

The Valiquette "map" also would affect areas such as Clark and Stark counties which would be apportioned to several congressional districts—three in the case of Clark and four in Stark.

Former Rep. Charles E. Fry, Springfield Republican, told the committee that redistricting at this time would be "repugnant and confusing to the electorate" and would be of questionable value to Democrats.

Fry, along with former state Sen. Richard G. Reichel of Massillon, cautioned Democrats that their party could be damaged by voter resentment to the partisan issue being raised, when it need not be.

The legislature, in the past, most often has let districts stand until after population figures are garnered for Ethiopia Invaded By Sudan?

OSLO, Norway (AP) — The Norwegian Foreign Office said today its consul in Addis Ababa reported that Sudanese troops had crossed the border into Ethiopia and occupied the town of Beghi.

The consulate received its information from Norwegian missionaries in the occupied town, the Foreign Office said.

Sudan has reportedly given support to rebels fighting inside Ethiopia.

A spokesman for a faction of separatist rebels fighting in Ethiopia's northern province of Eritrea said Wednesday that Ethiopian planes "savagely bombed" the port of Bahr Assele, 60 miles north of Assab on the Red Sea. He said scores of women, children and old men were hurt in the June 24 bombing.

The spokesman, Idris Kiladios of the Eritrean Liberation Front Revolutionary Council, said in Cairo the rebels seized Barentu on the road leading from the Sudanese border to the Eritrean town of Karen. Rebels were fighting for control of Karen where about 4,000 Ethiopian soldiers were stationed, he said.

Ohio Per Capita Incomes Rises

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's $6,432 per capita income in 1976 increased 10 per cent over the year before, but still ranks below the national average of $6,441, according to the Center for Business and Economic Research at Ohio State University.

Statewide income ranked 21st in the nation both in 1975 and 1976. Among the top 10 industrial states in the country, Ohio ranks 7th.

Per capita income is determined by dividing Ohio's total $68.8 billion personal income by the state's 10.7 million total population.

Girl Scout Phones, Police Baffled

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Charlotte Grosse's parents waited for a second telephone call today, hoping it would bring word that the man who dragged their 15-year-old daughter from a tent at a remote Girl Scout campsite had kept his pledge to free her.

But there was no word throughout the worried night and into the morning, more than nine hours after the abductor allowed the girl to call her parents at home in nearby Nokomis to tell them she was all right and that he promised to set her free.

"I'm baffled," said Sarasota County Sheriff Jim Hardcastle. He said he couldn't understand why the man had allowed her to call home and speak with her father, Richard Grosse, but then didn't release her.

Hardcastle said he wasn't giving up.

delegation — from 14-9 in 1964 to 19-5 two years later.

Under questioning, Fry admitted the man was "going to get rid of her at a telephone booth."

Charlotte, clad only in underclothes and a Mickey Mouse shirt, was dragged by the hair by a heavy-set man at dawn Wednesday as her sister and a friend looked on in horror.

Her sister ran from the tent screaming, "Charlotte's been stolen!" Sheriff officers and volunteers scaled down the search to about 30 patrolmen in the wooded area where the teen-ager was taken captive and teams of officers and detectives in cars canvassing the area.

"They don't know where to look but the search is concentrated in the Bradenton area," a sheriff's spokesman said. "They don't believe she's in the wooded area any more."

Fry, who unsuccessfully sought his party's nomination for governor in 1974, said he thinks it may be "constitutionally unsound" to redistrict now, because he thinks it is intended that the job be done after each census.

Using interim 1975 population figures could be illegal because of doubt as to their accuracy, he said.

The next federal census is due in 1980.

Their bright red tent was one of four clustered in a clearing in the park. The sisters had been part of a group of 44 scouts at the park for a day camp. Eight scouts and two adults stayed the night at the camp.

Deputies said they knew of no motive for the abduction, but Hardcastle said the "odds are pretty good" that Charlotte's abduction was sparked by the incident earlier this month at a campsite in Locust Grove, Okla. Three Girl Scouts were beaten and sexually assaulted at the camp. Authorities have charged 33-year-old prison escapee Gene Leroy Hart in the June 13 slayings and are still searching for him.

Charlotte told her father the abductor "just wanted to get rid of her," said Cpl. Ray Pilon.

The abductor apparently listened as Charlotte made her call but she and her father were able to work out a hasty code, the sheriff said.

"Through her saying 'yes' and 'no' her father found out it was an old blue car" that the abductor was driving, Hardcastle said.

Charlotte told her father the abductor was wearing sneakers and blue jeans and had a mustache, the sheriff said.

House Turns Down Plan To Return Big Pay Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the House of Representatives aren't going to give back that $12,900 pay raise they got in February.

The House easily rejected an amendment Wednesday that would have cut the money to cover the pay raises for fiscal 1978 from a $928.8-million legislative appropriation bill.

The amendment would not only have deleted funds for the congressional pay increases, but would have cut out raises for more than 20,000 upper-level federal employees.

After voting to keep their raises, which sent congressional salaries spiraling from $44,600 to $57,500, the House passed the bill, 251 to 161.

It now goes to the Senate, where no strong opposition has appeared.

Much of the opposition in the House was to the law the raise came about.

Under the law, a special commission reviews congressional salaries every four years, along with those of the vice president, cabinet members and other high-level federal employees.

The President may alter the commission's recommendations before sending them on to Congress.

In the past, unless Congress rejected the proposals, they took effect. This was the case with this year's raise.

Subsequently, however, the House changed the procedure to practically guarantee that future raises will have to be voted on.

During debate Wednesday, leaders promised they will clear the way for a vote on a provision that future raises won't take effect during the session in which they were approved.

Supporters of the pay raise argued Wednesday that it is only the second for Congress in eight years.

The boost from $44,600 to $57,500, they said, does not match the jump in the cost of living or trends in private employment during that time.

Opponents said congressional salaries, even at the old level, were about three times the national average. Congress, they said, was partly responsible for the inflation against which it was protecting itself.

The legislative appropriation bill that now goes to the Senate includes $503 million for work directly tied to Congress and $381.8 million for related agencies, such as the Library of Congress, the Government Printing Office and the General Accounting Office.

Pope Paul Silent On Bishop's Defiance

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI kept silent after Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre defied him by ordaining 14 priests because the Roman Catholic pontiff still hopes the 71-year-old French prelate will abandon his rebellion against the Pope's authority, Vatican experts said today.

They said the Vatican is now taking the attitude that Archbishop Lefebvre has placed himself outside the church by his defiance of the Pope's orders and excommunication is unnecessary.

Pope Paul presided over a ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica Wednesday a few hours after Lefebvre ordained 14 traditionalist priests at his seminary in Ecône, Switzerland, using 16th century Latin rites now forbidden by the Vatican.

Despite his threat last week to excommunicate Lefebvre if he went ahead with the ordinations, the pontiff did not mention him at the Mass he and the five new cardinals he created last Monday celebrated before thousands of bishops and prelates.

Instead he spoke of the "joyful atmosphere" of the church.

"It is a feast day for us," said the Pope despite the Ecône ordinations and the attack Bishop Lefebvre made on him in an address during the ceremony.

"The Pope was hoping to discourage the traditionalists from further steps of defiance," said one expert. "Now, Bishop Lefebvre has practically placed himself out of the Catholic Church and he could exploit an ex-communication, presenting himself as a martyr."

Some of Archbishop Lefebvre's followers have suggested that the traditionalists should form their own church if their leader is excommunicated.

The Pope barred Archbishop Lefebvre from ordaining priestly functions — ordinations, con-secrations, celebration of the Mass and ministering of the sacraments — because of his militant campaign against the modernization of the church launched by the Second Vatican Council.

The archbishop defied the papal ban and stepped up his efforts to attract supporters to the traditionalist movement. He contends that he and his followers "remain in full communion with the Holy Roman Catholic Church" but have rejected the leadership of the Pope because he is destroying the church.

Cop Draws Gal Partner

CROSS LANES, W.Va. (AP) — State Trooper Stan Booth says he doesn't mind having for the department's first woman officer for a partner.

"It's just good to have someone with you. The first thing you got to remember is that she is a policeman. I mean police officer," Booth said of Sharen Sumpter Morrison of Winfield.

Mrs. Morrison said there is at least one thing she'd like to change at her Cross Lanes detachment — her shift. She's working days, but she would like to work evenings "because that's when the exciting stuff happens."

Not that the "exciting stuff" doesn't scare her a bit. During a recent arrest of an armed robber, "I kept thinking, 'What if he's actually there? What if he starts shooting?' Sure I was scared. If I hadn't been, I would have been stupid."

Mrs. Morrison says she has been assigned to the day shift because department officers believe troopers' wives would become jealous if their husbands worked with a woman at night. Mrs. Morrison began work June 3.

Creager To Retire After 40 Years As Rural Mail Carrier

Gale Creager is calling it quits after delivering mail in the Stoutsville area for 40 years.

Creager, who has the most time in service of any employee in the U.S. Postal Service's central district, will be retiring July 6 as rural mail carrier.

The recipient of a superior employment award for outstanding service last year, Creager was presented Wednesday with a service award by Larry Pritchard, officer in charge of the Stoutsville Post Office.

Creager began his mail service in 1937 when he was appointed acting postmaster of the Stoutsville Post Office from February to July. On July 6, 1937, he began his career as rural mail carrier.

His job in Stoutsville was postponed twice by wars, but Creager continued to serve as a mailman for the U.S. Navy during that time.

He served in World War II from 1944 to 1946 at the U.S. Naval Air Base in Tinian and in the Korean War from 1950 to 1951 in the Philippines.

Creager and his wife have been married 45 years. They have one daughter, Mrs. Bill (Linda) Duvall, and three grandchildren.

The towns people of Stoutsville and those on Creager's rural route are planning a reception in his honor from 2 to 4 p.m. July 17 at the Heidelberg Church, Stoutsville.

Controversial Welfare Aide McKenna Dies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Raymond McKenna, one of the most controversial figures in Gov. James A. Rhodes' administration, died early today of an apparent heart attack, the governor's office reported. He was 57.

McKenna was ousted from the top post of director of Public Welfare on April 29, 1976 by majority Democrats in the Senate, who refused to confirm his nomination.

Rhodes stood by him and made him assistant welfare director at the same salary, a position not subject to Senate approval.

As director, McKenna found himself in the middle of a controversy over a deficit in the state Medicaid Program. Democrats in the Senate and on the state Controlling Board continually criticized him for alleged inconsistencies and for failing to keep them properly informed of the complexities of the department.

At one point they produced a preliminary audit from the U.S.

Department of Health Education and Welfare which McKenna had insisted was not yet available. However, the retired Air Force Reserve Lt. Colonel survived the onslaught.

As assistant director, it was conceded by both Rhodes and his adversaries in the Senate that McKenna remained in control of the department. The titular head, Director Kwegyir Aggrey, announced his resignation last week. He will be succeeded by Kenneth Rhodes.

Rhodes called McKenna a "completely devoted and dedicated public servant whose leadership in the department of welfare will be sorely missed."

"He was a genuine expert on the intricacies of the complicated federal welfare programs, who worked tirelessly at one of the most difficult and unappreciated posts in state government," the governor said.

McKenna is survived by his widow and three children.

At one point they produced a preliminary audit from the U.S.

Department of Health Education and Welfare which McKenna had insisted was not yet available. However, the retired Air Force Reserve Lt. Colonel survived the onslaught.

As assistant director, it was conceded by both Rhodes and his adversaries in the Senate that McKenna remained in control of the department. The titular head, Director Kwegyir Aggrey, announced his resignation last week. He will be succeeded by Kenneth Creasy.

Rhodes called McKenna a "completely devoted and dedicated public servant who's leadership in the department of welfare will be sorely missed."

"He was a genuine expert on the intricacies of the complicated federal welfare programs, who worked tirelessly at one of the most difficult and unappreciated posts in state government," the governor said.

McKenna is survived by his widow and three children.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI kept silent after Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre defied him by ordaining 14 priests because the Roman Catholic pontiff still hopes the 71-year-old French prelate will abandon his rebellion against the Pope's authority, Vatican experts said today.

They said the Vatican is now taking the attitude that Archbishop Lefebvre has placed himself outside the church by his defiance of the Pope's orders and excommunication is unnecessary.

Pope Paul presided over a ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica Wednesday a few hours after Lefebvre ordained 14 traditionalist priests at his seminary in Ecône, Switzerland, using 16th century Latin rites now forbidden by the Vatican.

Despite his threat last week to excommunicate Lefebvre if he went ahead with the ordinations, the pontiff did not mention him at the Mass and the five new cardinals he created last Monday celebrated before thousands of bishops and prelates.

Instead he spoke of the "joyful atmosphere" of the church.

"It is a feast day for us," said the Pope despite the Ecône ordinations and the attack Bishop Lefebvre made on him in an address during the ceremony.

"The Pope was hoping to discourage the traditionalists from further steps of defiance," said one expert. "Now, Bishop Lefebvre has practically placed himself out of the Catholic Church and he could exploit an excommunication, presenting himself as a martyr."

Some of Archbishop Lefebvre's followers have suggested that the traditionalists should form their own church if their leader is excommunicated.

The Pope barred Archbishop Lefebvre from performing priestly functions — ordinations, con-secrations, celebration of the Mass and ministering of the sacraments — because of his militant campaign against the modernization of the church launched by the Second Vatican Council.

The archbishop defied the papal ban and stepped up his efforts to attract supporters to the traditionalist movement. He contends that he and his followers "remain in full communion with the Holy Roman Catholic Church" but have rejected the leadership of the Pope because he is destroying the church.

Cop Draws Gal Partner

CROSS LANES, W.Va. (AP) — State Trooper Stan Booth says he doesn't mind having the department's first woman officer for a partner.

"It's just good to have someone with you. The first thing you got to remember is that she is a policeman. I mean police officer," Booth said of Sharen Sumpter Morrison of Winfield.

Mrs. Morrison said there is at least one thing she'd like to change at her Cross Lanes detachment — her shift. She's working days, but she would like to work evenings "because that's when the exciting stuff happens."

Not that the "exciting stuff" doesn't scare her a bit. During a recent arrest of an armed robber, "I kept thinking, 'What if he's actually there? What if he starts shooting?' Sure I was scared. If I hadn't been, I would have been stupid."

Mrs. Morrison says she has been assigned to the day shift because department officers believe troopers' wives would become jealous if their husbands worked with a woman at night. Mrs. Morrison began work June 3.

State, Local Finances Strong

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economic recovery is waking state and local governments from the budget nightmares that have haunted them in recent years. A nationwide look at state-local operating budgets for 1976 reveals a rare surplus after years of red ink.

Cities with continued high unemployment or above-average costs — such as New York and Boston — continue to walk a fiscal tightrope with high taxes and reduced services. But the Department of Commerce says that, taken as a whole, state and local finances are strong.

The strengthening economy is sending increasing revenues into state and local treasuries. People returning to work are paying taxes on their income instead of drawing unemployment or welfare checks.

At the same time, cost-cutting efficiencies forced by recession-imposed revenue reductions are providing governments with income bonuses. Commerce officials say state-local income during the first three months of 1977 was up 9.4 per cent from the year previous — a surprisingly strong recovery from the 1974 recession.

"These governments have faced formidable problems in the middle 1970s," says an analysis by the economic group of the Chase Manhattan Bank. "Recession dampened revenues and boosted welfare outlays, while inflation bloated costs. Services were cut in many jurisdictions, but large deficits still accumulated. In some places, bankruptcy threatened."

"In reaction, the governments ran tight fiscal operations last year and their collective position took a marked turn for the better."

In fact, Chase Manhattan reported the 1976 cumulative state-local budget surplus was the first in three decades, except for 1972 and 1973 when federal revenue sharing overfilled budget coffers.

Last year, total receipts by state and local governments rose by 11 per cent, "not especially strong relative to the trend from the mid-1960s, but well ahead of the mere 8.5 per cent spending increase in 1976," said Chase. "The result was a tiny surplus in the operating budget of state-local governments taken all together."

The budget bubble, even cumulatively, is a delicate one always threatening to burst.

"If inflation seriously worsens, governments will once again have to cut activities as the prices they pay outrun receipts," said Chase.

Ronnie Spector Back In Spotlight

RED BANK, N.J. (AP) — She was the leader of one of rock 'n' roll's most famous girl groups, a teen queen of the mid-1960s who broke thousands of hearts with AM hits like "Be My Baby" and "Baby, I Love You."

Fourteen years later, Ronnie Spector has dropped her Ronettes, finalized her divorce with ace producer Phil Spector and, with the help of Bruce Springsteen's Asbury Park gang, returned to the rock music spotlight.

"It's not all that different — performing is performing, although things like sound and lights are so much better now," she said after an energetic performance here with Southside Johnny and the Asbury Jukes.

She's 31 now and her sexy, pouty voice strains to reach some of the high notes of her sentimental, teen-age hits. But, attired in a striking black jumpsuit cut to the waist and singing her oldies as well as her new single, "Say Goodbye To Hollywood," she had little trouble winning over a young teen-age crowd that was in diapers when the songs first hit the radio.

The new single, featuring Springsteen's E Street band and a blistering saxophone intro by Clarence Clemons, is perfectly matched for her vocal style — no coincidence, she says, since composer Billy Joel penned it specifically for her.

It's her first major release since her break with Phil Spector, whose "wall of sound" overdubbing technique produced hits for the Ronettes and many other groups in the mid-1960s.

Ronnie, her sister and cousin were dancing the twist at The Peppermint Lounge with Joey Dee and the Starlighters and in shows put on by New York disc jockey and impresario Murray the K when Spector first saw them in 1963.

He teamed them up with writers like Carole King and Neil Sedaka from New York's Brill Building, the Tin Pan Alley of the 1960s, and their careers exploded.

"I had just turned 16 when 'Be My Baby' hit. I was still in high school in New York, but thankfully the song took off in August just after I had graduated," she said.

The hits continued and in 1966 Phil Spector asked Ronnie to marry him instead of going on tour as the opening act for the Beatles.

"I hoped we could make a go of it as a team. He knew my voice, he's a great producer and I wanted to do at least two or three concerts a year and an album or two. But in five years, I did only two singles and Phil never distributed them."

"He tried to console me, keep me happy. But he wanted a housewife, someone to live in Beverly Hills with him, someone without a career. By 1973 I couldn't take it anymore. My thing is performing, I've been singing since I was three years old."

It's Budget Week In Ohio Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It's budget week in the legislature — and those who would compare the strain to that of a troubled housewife just don't fully understand what it's all about.

Most housewives, know how much they have to spend, or should. It gives them a mandate to remain in control.

But when a Senate-House conference committee met earlier this week to work out differences on the biennial appropriations bill — members found about $13.3 million they hadn't known was available.

The committee also found some unpaid bills, and wound up spending about $9 million more than either the Senate or House had intended.

The upshot of it all was that the lawmakers rushed down to the wire to send GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes a general revenue spending package that totaled — when all was said and done — slightly more than $8.8 billion (exclusive of $6.3 billion in nonstate tax revenues).

That compared to about $7.2 billion during the current biennium, and, yes, a large part of the increase was higher costs resulting from inflation. But the state, unlike the housewife, takes in more money as a result of inflation.

The higher cost of a refrigerator, for instance, raises the amount collected from the four-cents-on-a-dollar sales tax. And wage increases that may stem from inflation bring in more money from the state income tax.

That's why majority Democrats, with GOP blessing, were able to prepare for the governor a budget that called for no new or increased taxes — and one that ostensibly stays within income, although no one can be sure.

Budget Director William W. Wilkins, in a period of a little more than two months, revised downward this spring — by $29.5 million — the amount Ohio stands to earn from its investments during the next two years.

Wilkins stressed the income estimates could be changed again — up or down — and told the chairmen of the two finance committees "I will continue to inform the committees any time there is a change (in revenue estimates)."

The legislature keeps an emergency till, about $20 million last biennium — nearly all of which was eventually spent — for fiscal "rainy days" when revenues drop. When revenues are more than expected, the legislature can pick new things to finance and pass a supplemental appropriations bill.

Budget conferees jumped this week at a newly disclosed opportunity to grab $13.3 million in federal funds to help subsidize utility bills for the indigent, left over from last winter. But they had to approve $1.3 million in state expenditures to qualify for the federal grant.

At the same time, the committee found a $2.3 million deficit in the amount needed by the mental health agency to pay its debts, and took care of other millions in costs overlooked by the Senate and House.

So it went, getting ready for the fiscal new year that starts Friday. No average housewife ever had it that way.

No Death Prediction For State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Department of Highway Safety said holiday weekend traffic death predictions have become a self-fulfilling prophecy, and will not issue an estimate for the upcoming July 4 weekend.

Dennis Whalen, a spokesman for the department, said "There's something inevitable about predictions. People come to accept the idea that a large number of people are going to die."

This year, Whalen said, Highway Safety Director Robert Chiamonte would not predict the weekend death toll and stressed caution.

"There's no valid reason why a single motorist should die," the director said. He added that 95 per cent of Ohio's 24 deaths last year were caused by an avoidable error.

Chiamonte blamed half of the deaths on excess speed or drunk driving. None of the persons killed in the 14 passenger car accidents were wearing seatbelts.

The National Safety Council has predicted between 500 and 600 traffic deaths this July 4. During last year's Bicentennial holiday, 497 persons were killed nationwide in cars and motorcycles.

The worst year for the July 4th holiday traffic deaths was 1972, when 758 persons were killed.

Gas Tax Funds Distributed To Counties

Circleville received $8,595, Ashville $1,266, New Holland $314, South Bloomfield $353, Tarlton $595 and Williamsport $432.

Ferguson said that each of the state's 88 counties received $35,000, or $3,080,000 of the total, and that the state's 1,320 townships received $1,200 each, or $1,584,000 of this distribution. Ashtabula, with the most townships, received $32,400 for distribution to them while Cuyahoga County, with the least, received $4,800 for their townships.

The remaining $5,036,583 went to 957 cities and villages, based upon $1 per motor vehicle registered within their borders, as set forth in latest registration compilation.

Ferguson said gasoline excise tax receipts can be used only for street and roadway purposes.

Food Price Drop Noted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Figures show prices paid for raw farm products declined by 5 per cent between May 15 and June 15, the first time this has happened in seven months, the Agriculture Department says.

The department's Crop Reporting Board attributed the general decline to lower prices for soybeans, cattle, corn, wheat, vegetables and fruit.

But officials said Wednesday that farmers got higher prices for hogs and dairy products in the 30-day survey period. They said this helped make up for part of the decline of other commodities.

Over-all, farm prices were down 6 per cent from June 15, 1976. Farm expenses, meanwhile, dipped one half of 1 per cent during the month but still averaged 5 per cent above a year ago.

The 5 per cent decline was the first since farm prices dropped 3 per cent from last Oct. 15 to Nov. 15, the department said. After that, they rose 3 per cent in December, 1.5 in January, 2 in February, 1 in March, 1.5 in April and 2 in May.

Department officials have said retail food prices are expected to average about 6 per cent higher this year, compared with a gain of 3.1 per cent in 1976. About half of the increase is expected from higher prices for nonfarm items, including coffee, cocoa and seafood.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed higher today with a boost from hopes for a letup in the pace of food inflation.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose about 2 points in early trading. Gainers took a slight lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The market had been declining since the start of the week before turning upward late Wednesday.

Analysts noted that the reversal came after the government reported a 5 per cent drop in farm prices for the month ended June 15.

The news tended to reinforce recent speculation on Wall Street that inflationary pressures might be easing at least temporarily.

Today's early prices included Exxon, up 1/4 at 53, and NL Industries, unchanged at 22.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average lost 2.91 to 913.33.

Declines outnumbered gainers by a small margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume slowed to 19.00 million shares from 22.67 million the previous day.

The NYSE's composite index lost .04 to 54.90.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .11 at 119.58.

State, Local Finances Strong

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economic recovery is waking state and local governments from the budget nightmares that have haunted them in recent years. A nationwide look at state-local operating budgets for 1976 reveals a rare surplus after years of red ink.

Cities with continued high unemployment or above-average costs — such as New York and Boston — continue to walk a fiscal tightrope with high taxes and reduced services. But the Department of Commerce says that, taken as a whole, state and local finances are strong.

No Death Prediction For State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Department of Highway Safety said holiday weekend traffic death predictions have become a self-fulfilling prophecy, and will not issue an estimate for the upcoming July 4 weekend.

Dennis Whalen, a spokesman for the department, said "There's something inevitable about predictions. People come to accept the idea that a large number of people are going to die."

This year, Whalen said, Highway Safety Director Robert Chiaramonte would not predict the weekend death toll and stressed caution.

Chiaramonte blamed half of the deaths on excess speed or drunk driving. None of the persons killed in the 14 passenger car accidents were wearing seatbelts.

The National Safety Council has predicted between 500 and 600 traffic deaths this July 4. During last year's Bicentennial holiday, 497 persons were killed nationwide in cars and motorcycles.

The worst year for the July 4th holiday traffic deaths was 1972, when 758 persons were killed.

The coming weekend for the purpose of traffic fatality counts lasts from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Monday.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 7 p.m. today.

Gas Tax Funds Distributed To Counties

June gasoline tax checks totaling $9,700,583 were distributed today by State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office to Ohio counties, townships, cities and villages.

Circleville received $8,595, Ashville $1,266, New Holland $314, South Bloomfield $353, Tarlton $595 and Williamsport $432.

Ferguson said that each of the state's 88 counties received $35,000, or $3,080,000 of the total, and that the state's 1,320 townships received $1,200 each, or $1,584,000 of this distribution.

Ashtabula, with the most townships, received $32,400 for distribution to them while Cuyahoga County, with the least, received $4,800 for their townships.

The remaining $5,036,583 went to 957 cities and villages, based upon $1 per motor vehicle registered within their borders, as set forth in latest registration compilation.

Ferguson said gasoline excise tax receipts can be used only for street and roadway purposes.

SENIOR CITIZENS DISPLAY ART — The Senior Citizens

are currently holding an art show through the month of July at the Downtown Office of BancOhio Second National Bank of Circleville. The Circleville Art League had judged the paintings and made the following awards: Best of Show to Dorothy Smith (seated right) for her painting "Front Porch". First Prize to Vera Saunders (standing right) for "Kelly's Island" and "Bouquet"; and Ruth Woodward (standing left) for "Mountain View." Second Prize to Beatrice Owens (seated left) for "Farm Scene" and "Poppies" and Ruth Woodward for "Lighthouse." Third Prize to Beatrice Owens for "Barnyard" and to Dorothy Smith for "Sugar Camp". Honorable Mention to Beatrice Owens for "Old Mill"; Vera Saunders for "Autumn"; Dorothy Smith for "Winter Scene"; and Ruth Woodward for "Moonlight Sails." Vera Saunders, instructor, has been teaching the art class at the Senior Center for the past 5 years. The art students are quite prolific and have many interesting paintings with a variety of subjects. Most of the art students use acrylic medium, some use oil and watercolors. Any Senior Citizens interested in art are invited to join the art class which meets every Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the Pickaway Senior Center.

Food Price Drop Noted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Figures show prices paid for raw farm products declined by 5 per cent between May 15 and June 15, the first time this has happened in seven months, the Agriculture Department says.

The department's Crop Reporting Board attributed the general decline to lower prices for soybeans, cattle, corn, wheat, vegetables and fruit.

But officials said Wednesday that farmers got higher prices for hogs and dairy products in the 30-day survey period. They said this helped make up for part of the decline of other commodities.

Over-all, farm prices were down 6 per cent from June 15, 1976. Farm expenses, meanwhile, dipped one half of 1 per cent during the month but still averaged 5 per cent above a year ago.

The 5 per cent decline was the first since farm prices dropped 3 per cent from last Oct. 15 to Nov. 15, the department said. After that, they rose 3 per cent in December, 1.5 in January, 2 in February, 1 in March, 1.5 in April and 2 in May.

Department officials have said retail food prices are expected to average about 6 per cent higher this year, compared with a gain of 3.1 per cent in 1976. About half of the increase is expected from higher prices for nonfarm items, including coffee, cocoa and seafood.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed higher today with a boost from hopes for a letup in the pace of food inflation.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose about 2 points in early trading. Gainers took a slight lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The market had been declining since the start of the week before turning upward late Wednesday.

Analysts noted that the reversal came after the government reported a 5 per cent drop in farm prices for the month ended June 15.

Today's early prices included Exxon, up 1/4 at 53, and NL Industries, unchanged at 22.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average lost 2.91 to 913.33. Declines outnumbered gainers by a small margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume slowed to 19.00 million shares from 22.67 million the previous day.

The NYSE's composite index lost .04 to 54.90.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .11 at 119.58.

Prices paid to farmers by Pickaway Grain were:

Ear Corn 2.03
Shelled Corn 2.08
Wheat 2.14
Oats 1.75
Beans 7.52

Hog prices, net, were paid by Producers Livestock Assn. today as follows:

25 cents higher, $45.00 to $45.50, 200-230 lbs. Will be closed Friday, but will be open Monday.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Direct hogs (Fed-State) Barrows and gilts mostly 25 higher, instances 50 higher, demand moderate. U.S. 1-2, 200-230 lbs. country points, 45.50-46.75, few at 46, plants, 45.75-46.25, some at 46.50. U.S. 1-3, 200-230 lbs. country points, 45.25-45.50, few at 45.75, plants, 45.50-46, some at 46.75. U.S. 230-250 lbs. country points, 44.50-45.50, plants, 44.75-45.75, some at 46.

Receipts Wednesday: Actuals 5100, today's estimates 4000.

Cattle, from Columbus Producers Livestock Co-operative Association, 50-61 higher. Slaughter steers and yearlings, choice 38-41.35, with top of 41.75, good 34-38. Bulls market steady-2 higher, 36 and down. Cows market uneven .50 lower-2.50 higher, 29.50 and down.

Veal calves $1 lower, choice and prime 37-39.50. Sheep and lambs 2.50 lower, old sheep 15 and down.

Last Monday Senior Citizens from Frankfort, Chillicothe, Bainbridge and Kingston went by chartered bus, to Sea World at Aurora, Ohio to spend the day. Among those going from Kingston were Mrs. Lyman Dresbach, Jr., Mrs. Don Ebert, Mrs. Carson Kelley, Mrs. Luadah Hartmen, Ginger Patterson, Mrs. Mary Miller, Mrs. Vera Miller, Mrs. Margaret Ross, Mrs. Doris Carmean and Mr. Leonard Leadingham. A good time was had by all.

Miss Virginia Morris returned home Monday, after being a medical patient in University Hospital for a week.

Charles French Sr. is most grateful for the kind attention shown him by the folks at Berger Hospital where he underwent surgery recently. The many cards and other remembrances were also most welcome. Although French now lives in Kingston, he is a retired Pickaway County farmer, and on July 17 will observe his 90th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Derexson and son Charlie left here Tuesday morning for central Florida where they will make their home, for the winter, at least.

Seven year old Sheri Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Reed is head majorette of "Rhonda's Hi-Steppers" a baton group. She made up her own winning routine. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chaffin of Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Peck and son Douglas of Waukashaw, Wisc. spent last week with their mothers, Mrs. Mary Peck of Chillicothe and Mrs. Kathleen Buck of Kingston. They also spent a day with Mrs. Peck's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Buck in their new home in Sunbury.

Sunday afternoon callers of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Lauerman were Mrs. Grace Whitten, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Whitten Jr. and Janie of Williamsport, Mrs. Eunice Lauerman and grand-daughter Donna Parsons of near Circleville and Mr. and Mrs. Clark Whitten of Lataville.

Friends of Neal and Ada Lauerman might be interested to know that they will observe their 45th. wedding on Saturday, July 2.

The Zane Trace Youth League held its tournament during the Festival with the Blue Team headed by Willard McCarty, Bob Arnold and Joe Huhn, the winner. Score 11 to 9. On the winning Blue team are Ricky Miller, Kevin Hines, Todd Houser, Brian Wiget, Scott Huhn, Tye Hinton, Shaun and Chad McCarty, John McGill, Mike Richardson, Troy Jones, Mike Reed, Scott Arnold, Mike, Steve and Bobby Lanning and Thad Hinton.

Miss Suanne Knisley is taking some courses in Library Science at Ohio University, Athens, this summer.

In observance of their 30th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. James Stewart were Saturday evening dinner guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Stewart at an Ashland, Ky. restaurant.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Knisley and grand-daughter, Becky Zeigler were Sunday afternoon guests of his mother, Mrs. Foster Knisley at her home near Bainbridge.

A few notes on the Geranium Festival: - Sandy Dumm was elected queen and her court was composed of Kelley Holdren and Kathy Davis. Lori Serrott was an alternate. Sandy was also named 'Miss Congeniality'. The little King and Queen with their alternates are Jack Coey and Deanna Roll and Julie Arthur and Todd Buskirk.

The two sides of beef donated by Farmers Exchange, Valley Grain, Roger Minor Tractor Sales and Kingston National Bank were won by Kathy Schadle, Chillicothe Rt. 4 and Ruth Minton, Hallsville.

Angele Dalrymple and Doneta Thompson each won bicycles. Sixteen old automobiles were registered for the Antique Car Show on Sunday and first, second and third prizes were awarded in the 27 classes. Entries were from Zanesville, Portsmouth, West Union, Black Lick, Laurelville, Rushtown, Chillicothe, Circleville and Kingston. Wanda Conner of Black Lick won the trophy for Mayor's Choice and Judges Choice trophy went to Jim Diltz of Circleville.

The Festival Committee wishes to express their thanks to all who contributed or helped in any way to make this years Geranium Festival a success.

Linda (Mrs. Willard) McCarty is a Welcome Wagon Hostess, sponsored by the business community of Kingston and surrounding community to welcome newcomers to our town and acquaint them with existing facilities, newly engaged couples are also honored as are the parents of the new babies. If you have knowledge of any of these events, help the new hostess by giving her the information at 642-5543.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Timmons and son Craig were in Marietta, Sunday where they visited the Ohio River Museum, toured the W.P. Snyder Paddle-wheeler and had a trip on the Valley Gem up the Muskingham River.

The Kingston Senior Citizens will have a carry-in dinner at noon on July 6, followed by a silent auction.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry McRoberts of Reynoldsburg were Sunday afternoon callers of Mrs. Luadah Hartman.

Policewoman Bound Over

FRANKLIN, Ohio (AP) — A former Carlisle policewoman, charged with shooting her chief, has been bound over to the Warren County grand jury under $50,000 bond.

Brenda Lofland Prether, 24, of Lebanon was charged with attempted aggravated murder and aggravated arson in connection with the June 22 shooting of Police Chief Robert Reichard, 32.

Reichard, shot twice, remained in fair condition at Middletown Hospital.

Franklin Municipal Court Judge John B. Tracy denied a defense motion to commit Mrs. Prether to Longview State Hospital or appoint a court psychiatrist for a mental examination. Judge Tracy said the motion was improper at the preliminary hearing.

Mrs. Prether had been employed as a part-time officer in 1976. She filed, then later lost, a suit against the village alleging the village refused to hire her fulltime because of her sex.

A Page Of Opinion

Europeans probably never will understand Americans, and vice versa. Some visitors to the U.S. from Europe actually have gone home with the conviction Americans are nothing but adult children. Where they got that impression is difficult to say. After all, every year Disneyland—and everyone knows that is a child's paradise—plays host to millions of children, and undoubtedly they have the time of their lives. Along with three times as many adults who accompany them. All right, what is wrong with someone on the other side of the generation gap liking the same things kids do? Granddad probably would enjoy taking another ride on one of those long-hanging swings once found in every park—the kind that takes your breath away on the downward arc—and why not? Perhaps one of the things wrong with critics of the U. S. is that their cultures, their traditions, their lower living standards — something — has made them a little stuffy. They think anyone beyond the age of puberty must put away his playthings and concentrate on the drudgery of work. There is nothing wrong with work, and many people enjoy it—almost as much as their favorite recreation. Some individuals work almost as hard at play as they do at work. But somehow they manage to enjoy it more.

Executive Crops

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK — Business Week magazine recently published a special supplement on "The Executive Gardener."

It seems that at the upper management level of the corporate world, men and women are hurrying from the office to the vegetable patch. Although one vice president claims his gardening is an economic maneuver — "I blew over paying 60 cents for a cucumber," he reported — most white-collar horticulturists appear to be in it for the exercise, the mental relaxation and the sheer novelty.

"When the rest of the world is something I can't cope with, I turn to my garden," says a New York City architect who raises salad vegetables on a Manhattan apartment terrace. Gardening is better than golf for a Connecticut building executive, "because it keeps me at home where clients can reach me." A General Motors manager raises strawberries on the roof of his brownstone — "and cocktail party guests pick their own desserts. They're amazed."

It is probable that the efforts of executive gardeners are exceptionally successful because to reach the upper echelons demands an organized mind. And organization is possibly the single most vital factor in small-scale vegetable farming.

Planting vegetables in a manner that will cause them to thrive is much the same as planning successful business parties: the guests in your garden, as in your home, must be compatible. As an ill-chosen guest list leads to ennui and early evacuation, so goes it with horticulture.

According to an Illinois farmer, Dick Diebold, if your seedlings don't get along it can lead to despair, disease and — heaven help the asparagus — even death.

The factors to be considered by executives (not to mention the rest of us) are plant feedings, habits of growth, times of maturity, hardness and succession of growth. Never invite a tomato to the same planting party with a beet; watch for trouble if you seed an onion next to a Kohlrabi — that sort of thing.

When the time comes to rotate the crops, slightly later this summer, Diebold says, it is vital to remember some no-nos and yes-dos:

Pole beans planted with sunflowers will grow unsatisfactorily because of light and root interference. Other "unsuitable neighbors" are pole beans and members of the cabbage family; potatoes and pumpkins, onions and peas, or onions and asparagus.

However, there is a gracious sociability factor between the following vegetables:

Beets and onions grow happily together, as do cucumbers with sweet corn; leeks with beans or celery; carrots or turnips with peas; cucumber and beans; tomatoes and parsley; early potatoes and corn; eggplant with beans, celery and leek.

When the time comes to rotate the vegetables (give a second party, so to speak), authorities suggest that home gardeners try a change of pace. The heavy-feeding vegetables should be followed up in the patch by light-feeders such as bush beans, carrots, radishes and rutabagas. Otherwise, your soil could be literally eaten out of minerals and vitamins. Leaf crops consume a lot of nitrogen from the soil, while root crops take a lot of potash. So — Diebold recommends — turnips should not be replaced with carrots, another root crop, but rather with lettuce, for example, a leaf crop.

On the other hand, there are some greedy vegetables which, like the man who came to dinner and stayed, like to have sole possession of their turf for the entire summer. These include lima beans, Swiss chard, eggplant, okra, onions, parsley, parsnips, peppers, sweet potatoes and that most popular of all home-grown goodies, the tomato. Unless you're bored with raising them, tell them kindly to remain seeded.

Again imagine you have a party going here, give your guest plantings a cooperative friend. Plant mint alongside your tomatoes to give the tomato health and flavor; the herb, borage, deters the tomato worm, the thyme is known to deter the cabbage worm. And, as most people who have gardens are aware, marigolds are the warriors of the vegetable patch and will do wonders for almost any plant. Put marigolds near the cucumbers and they'll fight off the cucumber beetle; marigolds will defend snap beans from Mexican bean beetles. In fact, marigolds planted around the entire perimeter of a garden will keep out all manner of evil spirits and creepy crawlers. They are the skunks of the insect world.

One last note: avoid, if possible, watering plants early in the evening. The plants stay wet through the night and this makes them subject to fungal and bacterial growth. Executive or just plain working person, this presents a logistical problem...

But that's one of the exhilarating facets of gardening as a hobby: facing challenges and somehow overcoming them.

If you wanted a pastime without any problems, you'd stick with the relatively mindless hobby of watching TV.

Panel Backs Lifeline Rate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A House committee has restored to a full 25 per cent the discount elderly and disabled citizens may get on their utility bills during the next two winters.

The action came Tuesday in the House Insurance, Utilities and Financial Institutions Committee on a so-called "lifeline" bill being sponsored by Rep. Dennis E. Eckart, D-18 Euclid. The same committee had cut the subsidy to 15 per cent of gas and electric bills last week.

Eckart's proposal was restored to its original form with support from House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr. and Rep. William E. Hinig, D-96 New Philadelphia, committee chairman, he said.

The legislation is being financed with a speedup in collections of the utility excise tax, giving the state a one-time pickup of about $90 million during the upcoming biennium. Its funding is uncertain after that. Renters and homeowners 65 and over would get the discounts.

Treacher Firm Sets Expansion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Arthur Treacher's Fish & Chips, a Columbus-based fast food chain, will open restaurants in 21 counties in Oregon and five in southern Washington state, the company announced Tuesday.

Oregon-based Beres Foods, Inc. will hold the license, and plans to open six restaurants within two years, one to be open by next fall.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, June 30, the 181st day of 1977. There are 184 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1950, President Harry Truman announced that he had ordered U.S. troops stationed in Japan to help the Republic of Korea repel North Korean invaders.

On this date: In 1834, the Indian Territory was created by an Act of Congress.

In 1934, Adolf Hitler began a purge in Germany, ousting hundreds of political and military leaders.

In 1936, Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia pleaded before the League of Nations in Geneva for help against Italian invaders.

In 1946, the third atomic bomb was dropped, in a U.S. test over ships anchored at Bikini in the Marshall Islands.

In 1971, three Soviet cosmonauts who had been in space for more than three weeks were found dead when their spacecraft landed.

Ten years ago: The U.S. announced the names of astronauts who would man a space laboratory in orbit, including the first black and the first Vietnam veteran to take part in a mission in space.

Five years ago: Congress adopted a 20 per cent across-the-board increase in Social Security benefits.

One year ago: Photographs of Mars taken by an American spacecraft showed that the planet once sustained abundant and rapidly flowing water.

Today's birthday: Former President Juan Bosch of the Dominican Republic is 68.

Thought for today: "A statesman is a politician who's been dead ten or 15 years." — President Harry Truman, 1884-1972.

"I'm going to raise all the Cain I can now — next year I'm supposed to know better."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have a heart condition. I've been advised by two doctors to have a "bypass operation." Two other doctors feel that I can be treated with medication. Of course, I would prefer not to have surgery. You can imagine my confusion. Do you have any reliable sources that you can refer me to? I would like to read as much as I can before making up my mind.

Mr. W.M., Mich.

Dear Mr. M.: There is an enormous amount of scientific literature about this subject. Medical journals all over the world have been comparing the advantages of medical treatment, for anginal pain and some forms of coronary artery disease.

It would be almost impossible for you to come to such an important conclusion by reading this material. The science writers who abstract the scientific literature cannot clarify this problem for you.

No two cases of coronary artery disease are identical. Consequently, there is no single form of treatment that can be suggested for all patients. I would be adding to your confusion if I were to vaguely intimate the course of action in your particular case.

My suggestion is that you have your physicians consult with each other and try to come to a common conclusion as they evaluate every aspect of your problem.

If they are still divided in their opinion, let them choose still another specialist, a mutually respected, nationally known consultant. Then he can be the deciding voice as to the choice of treatment.

I dread the late July and August allergy season that has plagued me all my life. Is there any place in the United States where I can be free of the six weeks of sneezing and runny eyes that are my lot?

Mr. T.J., Del.

Dear Mr. J.: People who are sensitive to goldenrod and ragweed are particularly uncomfortable during the latter part of the summer. There are many areas in the United States that are relatively free of substances.

There is no necessity for traveling far distances to avoid these pollens. Each state has literature about geographic areas in your own state or a nearby state that will give you greater comfort.

You can also write to the American Medical Association in Chicago, Ill., or to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington for such information.

An allergist in your own community will probably have all the up-to-date facts on areas in this country that will offer you the greatest possible relief.

This is an open letter to Al Cornelius and the Community Club of Ashville. BoBo the clown wants to know why he and other clowns can't be in the evening parades in Ashville during the 4th of July. He has appeared in Ohio Festivals parades all over the state and has always been welcome but is rejected in his own home town of Ashville. I wish to express my appreciation for the coverage your paper gave to the Buckeye Boys State at Athens. This event is sponsored by the American Legion of Ohio.

A real special thanks to the American Legion Post 618, of Williamsport, Ohio, for selecting me as one of the representatives to the Boys State Event. While there for the 10 day event, I had the pleasure to play in the Buckeye Boys State Band, and held the position of State Director of Real Estate for the State of Ohio. I will treasure the memories of the many fine young men I had the opportunity to meet, the fine men of the American Legion who assisted in making the event a real success. Over 1380 boys from all over the State of Ohio at-

Skyjacker Captured

DOHA, Qatar (AP) — A young Lebanese man armed with a pistol and two hand grenades hijacked a Gulf Air jetliner with 68 persons aboard, but troops led by Qatar's crown prince overpowered him today after the plane landed in the Persian Gulf emirate, the Qatar government announced.

A military spokesman said all 60 passengers and eight crew members were "safe and sound."

He said the hijacker was Samir Mohammed Hussein Shararah, 26, from the south Lebanese village of Bint Jbail, near the Israeli border.

Airport sources said moments before his arrest, the hijacker demanded a ransom of 500,000 riyals — $194,000 — in exchange for the other passengers and crew members.

The official Qatar news agency said Crown Prince Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, who is also Qatar's defense minister, led a squad of troops who slipped into the four-engine VC10, overwhelmed the gunman and dragged him out.

"The hijacker is being interrogated by security officers to determine his motives and check if any group was behind the crime," the agency said an airport official told it.

Outlaw Cable TV Hookups Fought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill outlawing unauthorized hookups to cable television lines is on the way to Gov. James A. Rhodes with 32-0 Senate support.

The legislation, sponsored by Rep. Michael G. Oxley, R-82 Findlay, could save Ohio cable systems more than $1 million a year by stopping theft of services, according to Sen. Real F. Zimmers, Jr., D-5 Dayton.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Control Data Corp. says it didn't receive a fair shake in the administration's denial of its proposed $13 million computer deal with the Soviet Union.

Neither, it feels, did the American people.

Because of the action, it believes the United States and the world have been denied vital weather information that the computer would have provided. Jobs may have been lost. Technology exchange may have been diminished.

Executives of the Minneapolis-based company, which has had a long and smooth relationship with the Soviets, feel a bit better today, after having had their say before a House subcommittee, but it came a few days too late.

Had they been granted an opportunity by the administration to correct misunderstandings, they said, the decision might have been different. But, they told the subcommittee, the administration evaded its statutory responsibility.

Following the formal testimony, Hugh Donaghue, a company executive, reiterated his position: a few irresponsible news stories generated concern among elected officials, detracted from the merits, and created a political football.

Faced with that situation, he said, the Carter administration punted. The Commerce Department barred sale of the computer, which it said must be diverted to military uses.

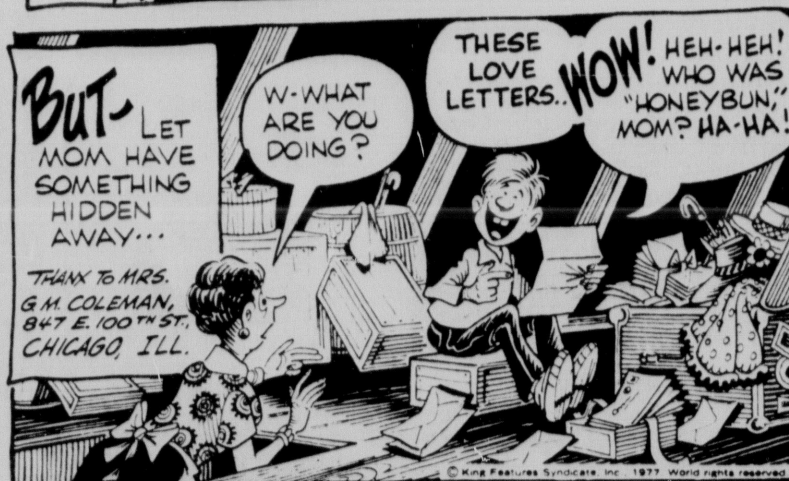

"We weren't granted the hearing we felt we should have got," said Donaghue, vice president and assistant to William Norris, the chairman. Because of safeguards, he said, the computer couldn't have been diverted to military purposes.

The many safeguards, he said, included a systems analyst and engineer at the site, and machine locks and split-second meters, operated only by company personnel, that would control and measure usage.

The list was long. The programming code would be unique, and it would remain in the hands of the resident company analyst; use of any other code would halt the system.

Donaghue conceded there might have been "an honest difference of opinion on the question of diverting the system." But, he said, "we should have been called in and permitted to state our position."

They'll Do It Every Time

Enjoying Life

Europeans probably never will understand Americans, and vice versa. Some visitors to the U.S. from Europe actually have gone home with the conviction Americans are nothing but adult children. Where they got that impression is difficult to say. After all, every year Disneyland--and everyone knows that is a child's paradise--plays host to millions of children, and undoubtedly they have the time of their lives. Along with three times as many adults who accompany them. All right, what is wrong with someone on the other side of the generation gap liking the same things kids do? Granddad probably would enjoy taking another ride on one of those long-hanging swings once found in every park--the kind that takes your breath away on the downward arc--and why not? Perhaps one of the things wrong with critics of the U. S. is that their cultures, their traditions, their lower living standards -- something -- has made them a little stuffy. They think anyone beyond the age of puberty must put away his playthings and concentrate on the drudgery of work. There is nothing wrong with work, and many people enjoy it--almost as much as their favorite recreation. Some individuals work almost as hard at play as they do at work. But somehow they manage to enjoy it more.

Executive Crops

NEW YORK — Business Week magazine recently published a special supplement on "The Executive Gardener."
It seems that at the upper management level of the corporate world, men and women are hurrying from the office to the vegetable patch. Dear Editor:

I wish to express my appreciation for the coverage your paper gave to the Buckeye Boys State at Athens. This event is sponsored by the American Legion of Ohio.

A real special thanks to the American Legion Post 618, of Williamsport, Ohio, for selecting me as one of the representatives to the Boys State Event. While there for the 10 day event, I had the pleasure to play in the Buckeye Boys State Band, and held the position of State Director of Real Estate for the State of Ohio. I will treasure the memories of the many fine young men I had the opportunity to meet, the fine men of the American Legion who assisted in making the event a real success. Skyjacker Captured

DOHA, Qatar (AP) — A young Lebanese man armed with a pistol and two hand grenades hijacked a Gulf Air jetliner with 68 persons aboard, but troops led by Qatar's crown prince overpowered him today after the plane landed in the Persian Gulf emirate, the Qatar government announced.

A military spokesman said all 60 passengers and eight crew members were "safe and sound."

He said the hijacker was Samir Mohammed Hussein Shararah, 26, from the south Lebanese village of Bint Jbail, near the Israeli border.

Airport sources said moments before his arrest, the hijacker demanded a ransom of 500,000 riyals — $194,000 — in exchange for the other passengers and crew members.

The official Qatar news agency said Crown Prince Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, who is also Qatar's defense minister, led a squad of troops who slipped into the four-engine VC10, overwhelmed the gunman and dragged him out.

"The hijacker is being interrogated by security officers to determine his motives and check if any group was behind the crime," the agency said an airport official told it.

Outlaw Cable TV Hookups Fought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill outlawing unauthorized hookups to cable television lines is on the way to Gov. James A. Rhodes with 32-0 Senate support.

The legislation, sponsored by Rep. Michael G. Oxley, R-82 Findlay, could save Ohio cable systems more than $1 million a year by stopping theft of services, according to Sen. Real F. Zimmers, Jr., D-5 Dayton.

Fee Ads May Become Widespread

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court decision allowing lawyers to advertise strikes down a cherished professional tradition and may set a precedent that will lead to price listing by doctors and other professionals.

Monday's decision, which came a year after the high court opened the way for prescription drug advertising, may give physicians, optometrists, dentists, accountants and other professionals the freedom to announce their fees.

The justices voted 5-4 to let lawyers advertise their fees for routine services such as drawing up wills and handling uncontested divorces.

The court's majority described its decision as a boon for consumers, arguing that it serves no purpose to deny individuals the information contained in lawyers' ads.

Most states enforce advertising bans, and the American Bar Association's ethical standards do not permit lawyers to advertise their fees.

However, the ABA recently modified its rules to allow lawyers to list their names and legal specialties in telephone directory advertising.

In addition to the high court, the Federal Trade Commission is involved in opening up the professions to advertising.

The commission has acted in a variety of areas, contending that such professional association practices as precluding advertising and standardizing fees result in public confusion and higher prices.

One area the FTC has entered is the health care field.

The commission has subpoenaed documents from the American Medical Association and various state and local medical societies in its probe.

Congress has also become involved in this area. Hearings were held last month by the Senate monopoly subcommittee on whether price advertising should be allowed in the sale of eyeglasses.

In addition to ads, the FTC has conducted an active war against what it considers price fixing.

Traditionally many professions have had scales of relative value for services performed, issued as guidance to individuals on what to charge.

And earlier this year the FTC charged the dental profession with price fixing.

The American Dental Association denied the charges and the FTC launched an investigation of the dental care industry.

The American College of Radiology was also barred last fall from using a value scale.

In another inquiry, launched last July, the FTC is investigating whether dental laboratories should be allowed to sell dentures directly to consumers.

In April an official of the commission's Bureau of Competition urged a probe of many other facets of health costs, including physician licensing and certification requirements. The commission is already investigating medical school accreditations.

And the commission last September began a study of nursing homes to determine whether the industry engages in unfair or deceptive practices.

Accountants too are feeling the pressure. An FTC investigation into the field began in March.

Carter Eyes Summit Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter may meet with Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev to review U.S.-Soviet relations, the White House said Tuesday.

No date or location has been set for a meeting, the White House said, but "President Carter and President Brezhnev have both expressed a desire to meet."

The possibility of a summit meeting was discussed last week during a meeting between Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin and Zbigniew Brzezinski, Carter's assistant for national security affairs.

"The President is looking forward to meeting with Mr. Brezhnev at a mutually agreeable time and place," said Deputy Press Secretary Rex Granum.

Brown Sees Ohio Death Penalty OK'd

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Atty. Gen. William Brown says he thinks the U.S. Supreme Court will look favorably on the state's death penalty law which it has agreed to review.

The high court agreed Monday to hear arguments on whether application of Ohio's death penalty statute constitutes cruel and unusual punishment.

The case involves the appeal of Willie Lee Bell, 19, who was sentenced to die in the electric chair for his part in the 1974 slaying of Julius Graber in Cincinnati.

Bell was convicted of aggravated murder, aggravated robbery and kidnapping.

The Ohio Department of Corrections lists 70 men and three women now facing execution in the state. The Bell case is expected to have a bearing on all of them.

Dr. Simon Dinitz, co-director of a dangerous offender program at the Academy for Contemporary Problems in Columbus, said he knows of no reason for the court to upset the state law.

He said the court had wanted to limit discretion available to trial courts through specifications.

"I don't see a society such as ours imposing death but if you talk about the law itself I think it probably will be upheld," Donitz said.

Benson A. Wolman, head of the Ohio chapter, American Civil Liberties Union, said he does not feel the current law measures up to the high court's standards.

"The major flaw is the failure of the Ohio law to provide sufficient mitigating circumstances for a judge to consider when deciding whether the death penalty is to be imposed," Wolman said.

"This case raises the issue of whether the death penalty is being evenly applied or arbitrarily and capriciously applied."

On Laugh-In

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Richard Nixon has been asked to make a return appearance on "Laugh-In."

Nixon, who at the time was running for president, went on "Laugh-In" in 1967 when it was a weekly hit and said, "sock it to me."

The show is returning as a special in September, and producer George Schlatter said Tuesday that he wants Nixon to say, "Ten years ago I appeared on 'Laugh-In' and invited the American people to sock it to me. You can stop now."

Schlatter says he hasn't heard from Nixon.

He's also trying to get Cuban Premier Fidel Castro to issue a series of one-liners for the show.

Schlatter said Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and consumer activist Ralph Nader will appear on the special.

The term "Terrier" was formerly applied to dogs who pursued small game into burrows.

Gifts were presented to Lucy Lemaster, the oldest lady present, Valda Kitts, the oldest man, and to four month old James Lemaster, the youngest present.

Plans are being made for next year's reunion to be held the fourth Sunday in June at the same place.

the double ring ceremony in front of the altar of the Stoutsville Lutheran Church.

The altar was adorned with vase arrangements of white carnations and yellow daisies.

Miss Janet Coulter, organist, presented a program of nuptial selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother and father and escorted to the altar on the arm of her father. Her formal length gown was of white knit. It featured a panel of lace down the front and chiffon sleeves. The fingertip veil was of white lace. She carried a colonial style bouquet of white carnations, yellow daisies and babies breath, she also carried a white Bible, a gift from her grandmother.

Miss Linda Shaffer served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Jackie Binkley, sister of the bride, and Miss Lori Noll.

Mr. Russ Rathburn performed the duties of best man. Ushers were Mr. Steve Binkley and Mr. Jerry Stevens.

The reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

Hostesses were Miss Kathy Ferber, Miss Shelly Goldsberry, Miss Kim Good. Miss Sandy Stevens and Miss Tracy Binkley presided at the guest register.

The bride is a 1977 graduate of Amanda-Clearcreek High School.

The bridegroom is a 1976 graduate of Amanda-Clearcreek High School and is currently employed by Reynolds Aluminum, Ashville.

The couple will reside at 818 S. Washington St., Circleville.

Mrs. Lillie Jackson entered Mercy Hospital yesterday for a heart ailment. let's all send her cards and try to cheer her up.

At this writing, Howard Neff is not up to par. He is at home recuperating from the hospital but not feeling too good. Late note, Howard is back in Intensive Care at Grant Hospital. Janet Braskett is home from the hospital recuperating from surgery she had in St. Ann's hospital last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Snyder of Akron were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Martin. Mrs. Snyder is a sister of Pauline's.

Elzena Albright is up and around and ready to go after spending the last three weeks in bed suffering from a bad fall she had over a tree stump in her front yard.

Orville Rasor is in Mt. Carmel Hospital and Lulu is still in Monterey Nursing home in Grove City.

Mrs. Valee Murphy and her daughter, Betty, were Saturday afternoon callers on the George Null's and later visited with the Dick Lawless's and Eva Burnley. Valee was a former resident of Commercial Point and was very surprised with all the changes here since she had been here several years ago.

Mrs. Lulu Martin is at home recuperating from her hospital visit and so is Charlene Lawson, after having her Kidney removed.

Last Wednesday night, my daughter, Kathy and I attended the Young Democrats meeting in Circleville in which Lieutenant Governor Richard Celeste was the guest speaker. A question and answer period followed his speaking and he was very enlightening on the voter registration on election day. He will be a strong contender for the '78 election and, as he put it, it won't be for Lieutenant Governor.

Peanut Butter Paintings Made

WASHINGTON (AP) — C.G. Morehead may have found a new dimension for art lovers — paintings that stick to the roof of your mouth.

Morehead, an Owensboro, Ky., artist of some repute, has developed a method that uses peanut butter as the base of his paints.

In a letter, Morehead asked President Carter, a man with an interest in peanuts, to sign his first peanut butter painting so that it can be auctioned off for charity.

Carter was to sign the painting in the Oval Office this morning after a breakfast meeting with Sen. Wendell Ford, D-Ky., an old friend of Morehead.

23RD PSALM — Displayed in the lobby of the Third National Bank is a hand made wall hanging of the 23rd Psalm. The tapestry was crocheted by Beatrice Mayberry, 128 1/2 Watt st., over a four year period. It took three weeks to design the beautiful handicraft by using graph paper, a magnifying glass, and one pair of glasses. Beatrice Mayberry is a member of the Emmett Chapel Church and commented "This is my favorite Psalm and something inside me just told me to do it." The tapestry will be on display for 45 days.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Forget Rose Bowl; Attend Blessed Event

DEAR ABBY: I am expecting a baby, and Jan. 1 is my due date. When I told my husband, he said, "Gee, that's tough because I've already ordered tickets for the Rose Bowl game." (He and three of his buddies always go to the game.)

I told him he shouldn't plan on going next year, but he says he'll make plans to go, and if I'm not in labor when it's time for him to leave for the game, he'll go. If I am, he'll cancel his plans and sell his ticket.

Abby, when I had our first baby, my water broke and the baby was born within a few hours.

I want my husband with me through everything. Don't you think being with me should be more important to him than a football game?

My mother lives nearby and she could take me to the hospital, but I still want my husband there. What do you think?

MARRIED TO A FINK
DEAR MARRIED: The Rose Bowl game is an annual event. Having a baby (I presume) is not. Also, the game will be televised, so he could see it and be with you, too.

I say the birth of the baby takes precedence over the Rose Bowl game. And if your husband complains, kick him in the end zone.

DEAR ABBY: I am a bachelor who has been corresponding with a lovely widow for several months. It all started when I answered a personal ad she placed in a San Francisco newspaper.

We have never met, but we've talked on the phone several times. I am going to San Francisco to meet her soon.

My question. How should I greet her when we meet for the first time at the airport? Should I follow my feelings and kiss her on the lips? Or would a handshake be more proper?

UNSURE IN S.F.
DEAR UNSURE: Let HER call the signals. If she offers you her cheek or lips, a kiss is in order. If she extends her hand, shake it. (P.S. And don't be too physically aggressive. Assuming you find her appealing and the feeling is mutual, neither of you will need a blueprint to build a relationship.

DEAR ABBY: This is not a question, but a piece of information that could save many lives.

NEVER go to sleep with the TV turned on. (And caution children who have TV's in their rooms to be sure the set is turned off before they go to sleep.)

The other evening my son was watching TV in his bedroom when the smoke began to pour from the set. He quickly turned it off and came to our room. By the time we got back to his room with the fire extinguisher, flames were shooting out of the bottom of the set and noxious fumes from burning insulation and plastic began to fill the room.

We put out the fire with the fire extinguisher, but it took a long time (even with the widows open) to clear the air of the fumes.

If our son, who is a very sound sleeper, had been asleep when this occurred, he probably would have died of smoke inhalation before we became aware of the problem. The set was not old or worn. We later learned it had a defective wiring.

This may not be a very common occurrence, but if it happened to us, it could happen to others, and on the chance that it could save one life I think it deserves space in your widely read column.

UNSURE IN S.F.

DEAR UNSURE: Let HER call the signals. If she offers you her cheek or lips, a kiss is in order. If she extends her hand, shake it. (P.S. And don't be too physically aggressive. Assuming you find her appealing and the feeling is mutual, neither of you will need a blueprint to build a relationship.

DEAR ABBY: This is not a question, but a piece of information that could save many lives.

NEVER go to sleep with the TV turned on. (And caution children who have TV's in their rooms to be sure the set is turned off before they go to sleep.)

The other evening my son was watching TV in his bedroom when the smoke began to pour from the set. He quickly turned it off and came to our room. By the time we got back to his room with the fire extinguisher, flames were shooting out of the bottom of the set and noxious fumes from burning insulation and plastic began to fill the room.

We put out the fire with the fire extinguisher, but it took a long time (even with the widows open) to clear the air of the fumes.

If our son, who is a very sound sleeper, had been asleep when this occurred, he probably would have died of smoke inhalation before we became aware of the problem. The set was not old or worn. We later learned it had a defective wiring.

This may not be a very common occurrence, but if it happened to us, it could happen to others, and on the chance that it could save one life I think it deserves space in your widely read column.

ROSEMARY S. PLACITAS, N.M.
DEAR ROSEMARY: I agree.
Thanks for your concern.

Carter Posters Back Conservation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Should President Carter's signature appear on posters displayed side by side with advertisements for small loan companies, funeral parlors and whisky distillers?

If it's all in the cause of promoting energy conservation, the White House answer is an emphatic "yes."

That's why bus riders in the nation's capital and several hundred other cities can draw inspiration from posters that read, "Thanks for taking the bus and saving energy. (signed) Jimmy Carter."

ADC Payments Sent To Counties

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office announced today the July distribution of $33,334,736 in Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) to 529,119 recipients in Ohio's 88 counties. Pickaway County received $66,214 for 1,013 persons.

Ferguson added that the ADC distribution does not reflect food stamp allowances to the recipients. The state welfare department distributes food stamps, and ADC payments to those recipients choosing to receive stamps are reduced accordingly.

Auxiliary payments of $1,876,651 resulted in a total of $35,589,589 in ADC payments distributed to the counties for the month of June.

Ferguson noted the principal July payment went to 2,683 fewer recipients than the one in June, and decreased by $578,202.

ADC payments are made to families with one parent or one unemployed parent on the basis of family size and financial resources. The ADC program is funded primarily by federal and state governments.

That's why many thousands of subway commuters in New York, Chicago and Cleveland can contemplate an amended message that reads, "Thanks for taking transit and saving energy."

Vacationing motorists are finding Carter's public thank you note reproaching them, in effect, from the big rear windows of Greyhound and Trailways buses.

A man who is paid to promote bus travel, and who therefore asked anonymity for his thoughts, said he is busily distributing the posters while thinking to himself, "I guess nothing is sacred anymore — even the presidency."

A spokesman for Carter's energy adviser, James R. Schlesinger, said the President and his energy staff are enthusiastic about the poster program and pleased it has spread so far so fast. He gave the following account of how the ball got rolling:

One fan of the Carter posters, a representative of bus operators, expressed but one misgiving: "What will we do with them when the 1980 election comes along?"

When Vice President Walter F. Mondale addressed a conference here this week on ways to hold down health costs, he was introduced by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

With mock seriousness, Kennedy related that Carter had been the first choice to be principal speaker but had been too busy. Then the conference sponsors considered brother Billy Carter, but he was "too expensive." The next possibility, said Kennedy, was 9-year-old Amy Carter, but "she's so sweet she's been banned by the FDA" — the Food and Drug Administration that wants to relegate saccharin to the dustbin of history.

The White House staff is very proud of its softball team, although Carter, who enjoyed the games in Plains, Ga., last year, has not yet come out to play.

In one sense, however, the President was on hand in spirit this week when the White House edged the Washington Post team 19-16, with balls and strikes being called by Ron Nessen, press secretary to former President Gerald R. Ford.

For this big occasion, the team from 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue sported new numbered jerseys that featured a drawing of the White House, with one architectural revision. In place of the South Portico and familiar Truman Balcony were a set of very large, equally familiar teeth.

Nazi March May Be Called Off

SKOKIE, Ill. (AP) — The July 4th parade of Nazis through this Chicago suburb may be called off, but 800 militant Jews will gather here to make sure the Nazis stay home, their leader says.

A lawyer for the Nazis says the march likely will be canceled because of a court order, an appeal of which isn't to be heard until July 8 after the march is scheduled.

Rabbi Meir Kahane, founder of the Jewish Defense League, will meet with Mayor Albert Smith today. Kahane says he plans to tell Smith "as eloquently as possible that a real and present danger of violence exists" if the Nazis attempt to march.

Kahane repeatedly has said he is "not warning that there will be violence, I'm promising that there will be violence." After a court hearing Wednesday, Nazi leader Frank Collin, reportedly the son of a German-Jewish concentration camp survivor, said he and his followers would march only if it is legal.

"We won't break any laws," he said. The day before, Collin had said the march was "definitely on — even if I have to break the law."

David Hamlin of the American Civil Liberties Union, representing the Nazis, said he doubted that the ACLU would seek an emergency ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Kahane spoke to several hundred persons Wednesday night at a meeting in an area synagogue, promising that the Nazis will not stage a march here. About 7,000 survivors of Nazi concentration camps are among the large Jewish population in the community of 69,000.

Eighty per cent of Iceland's exports are produced by fishing, says National Geographic.

The Douglas fir is found from the eastern base of the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific Ocean and from northern Mexico and Texas to central British Columbia.

Judge Denies Probation

Shock probation was denied a Columbus man Wednesday by Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer.

In denying shock probation for Paul Kuhn, 25, Columbus, Judge Ammer noted that Kuhn had pleaded guilty to similar theft offenses in 1970 and was placed on probation at that time.

Kuhn was arrested and charged with grand theft April 28 after he stole a rototiller from a business establishment south of Circleville.

At that time, he was sentenced to a one to five year term in the Ohio Penitentiary.

A pre-sentence report was ordered for Cindy Sue Sturgell, Scioto St., Ashville, who pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery.

She waived Grand Jury indictment and appeared on a bill of information. Trial dates are to be set for five defendants who entered not guilty pleas at Wednesday arraignments.

They are: Helen C. Comer, Chillicothe, who is charged with grand theft of a rototiller; George McBee, Route 2, Ashville, who is charged with passing bad checks; Robert F. Keaton Jr., 1243 Turner Drive, who is charged with grand theft of a check; Haskell Orsbon, Columbus, who is charged with grand theft and aggravated burglary; and Joann Parikakas, Columbus, who is charged with escape.

The State of Ohio was represented by Pickaway County Prosecuting Attorney James Kingsley.

Man Guilty Of Murder

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Hamilton County Common Pleas Court jury has found Cleophus Collins guilty of aggravated murder in the 1975 slaying of Cincinnati police officer William Loftin.

The 54-year-old Cincinnati man was convicted on the same charge in 1976, but the 1st District Ohio Court of Appeals ordered a new trial because of judicial error.

A hearing is set for Aug. 15 to determine if any mitigating circumstances might preclude the death penalty.

Defense attorneys argued that Collins fired in self defense, while prosecuting attorney David Albanese claimed the act was intentional.

"He fired point blank... continued to fire... and got back in his car and left."

That's escape," Albanese said.

Loftin was working under cover in plain clothes to detect liquor violations when the incident occurred on Aug. 26, 1975.

award was "Abel's Island," another Steig work but a longer one for older children. Here Abel, a newly-married mouse, becomes stranded on an "island" after a drenching rainstorm. After a Robinson Crusoe-like year with many adventures, he manages to return to his bride. Also highly reviewed by "Horn Book", not only for its story but for its style, diction, and illustrations as well. (Grades 3-4-7)

Other fiction for older children includes "The Cats" by Joan Phipson. Two kidnapped brothers in Australia save their abductors from destruction by a tribe of ferret cats that they cruelly abused.

"Hawk, I'm Your Brother," a Caldecott Honor Book by Byrd Baylor, is a book for all ages. Artfully illustrated with the text arranged in poetic form, this relates a boy's growing experiences when he steals a young hawk in his desperation to learn the secret of flight.

"Connie's New Eyes" is a main feature among our new nonfiction. Thoroughly and sensitively done, this book is a photographic essay about a twenty-two-year-old girl and her guide dog. (362.4)

Cigarette Smuggling Profitable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interstate cigarette smuggling has become a highly profitable business for organized crime and often finances other illegal activities, a government advisory panel says.

Cigarette bootlegging has become the most difficult revenue enforcement problem for many states, costing them $391 million a year, says the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations.

The commission recommended, in a report released Tuesday, that the United States mount a coordinated attack on the interstate cigarette smuggling, including making it a federal crime.

The commission said there is evidence that organized crime has obtained control of some tobacco wholesale operations in North Carolina as part of its smuggling network.

The report said organized crime's involvement in cigarette bootlegging is most prevalent in about a dozen Midwestern and Eastern states. While not naming all the states, the commission said New York State is most plagued by organized crime bootleggers.

"The tax rate disparity between New York City and North Carolina translates to a difference in price of $2.10 per carton, which provides a highly attractive profit opportunity and invites criminal activity," said the report.

The commission added that the volume of smuggling has forced some dealers into illegal activities to compete with the bootleggers.

The divergence in taxes, from 2 cents in North Carolina to 23 cents in New York City, is the major cause of the problem. The report called for state "restraint" in enacting increases in cigarette taxes because of the potential for criminal profit.

The commission said the lack of federal penalties hampers efforts to eliminate the problem. The report noted that local and state law enforcement officers are frustrated because the crime crosses state lines. It also urged tougher state penalties and more cooperation between states.

"The high-tax states should enter into cooperative agreements with low-tax states for detecting and reporting unusually large cigarette purchases that appear to be intended for illegal sale in high-tax states," the commission said.

The commission is a quasigovernmental body whose members include congressmen, governors, private citizens and Carter administration officials, including Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal.

The greatest tax loss from cigarette smuggling has been in New York, which lost an estimated $72.3 million in 1975, followed by Texas, $43.1 million; Florida, $35.7 million, and Pennsylvania, $35.6 million.

Registration Revenues Released

COLUMBUS — Governor James A. Rhodes today announced that the state is releasing a second installment of 1977 vehicle registration revenues for distribution among Ohio's 88 counties. Pickaway County received $167,045.45.

Governor Rhodes said that Bureau of Motor Vehicles Registrar Dean L. Dollison is in the process of releasing funds totaling $55,000,987.00, with all funds earmarked for local street and road improvement projects. Coupled with the earlier disbursement of over $28.7 million, this allocation will bring the total revenue for 1977 vehicle registration returned to the local taxing districts thus far, since the end of the renewal issuance period only 28 days ago, to over $3.7 million.

The Governor reported that warrant requests are on the way to the State Auditor's office and said that BMV officials hope to have the checks in the mail to each taxing district by July 8.

Rhodes further noted that by the time the tax distribution process is complete more than ninety cents of every dollar that Ohio motorists paid for vehicle registration will have been returned to their home county, city or township for maintaining the roads they drive on every day.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Seeds of Denver, Colo., visited last week with his grandfather, Mr. Everett Seeds. Nick is associated with Colorado University.

Attending the Grand Council of the Pythian Sunshine Girls at Toledo this past weekend were Mary Lee Baum, Mrs. Frank Baum, Mrs. Everett Peters and her granddaughter, Cheryl Thompson of Harbor Hills. There were 28 members of the Capitol City Council present at the convention.

Mary Baum was elected to the office of Friendship of the Grand Council for the coming year.

A surprise birthday party honoring Goldia Hopper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hopper and Adam was held Sunday afternoon. Those in attendance from Ashville were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Diehl, the Rev. and Mrs. John Currens, Mrs. Hazel Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Cook, Mrs. Marie Wilson of Circleville, the Rev. and Mrs. Andy Mathias of Logan, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith of Reynoldsburg.

Mrs. Hopper was pleasantly surprised and received many useful gifts from her friends.

Harry Sark has returned to his home from Doctors Hospital, North.

One hundred twenty members of the Village and Hedges Chapel United Methodist Churches attended a Farewell Dinner last Thursday evening at the Village Church honoring the Rev. and Mrs. Staring Morrow and Kirby.

The Morrrows, upon entering the dining room, were greeted with a huge sign saying "Morrrows, We'll Keep In Touch 'Cause We Like You So Much". The sign had been painted by Dick Pobst.

The welcome and invocation was given by Robert Gregory. A bountiful carry-in dinner was enjoyed by all. A three-tiered cake, baked and decorated by Brenda Gibson, was given to the Morrrows. They also received the floral centerpiece which was on the honored guests' table. All other tables were decorated with bud vases filled with flowers.

Following the dinner Benis Lutz gave a few remarks and read from a card the poem "Friendship". He presented the card to the Rev. and Mrs. Morrow along with a "love gift" of $600.00 which those attending, and others who were unable to attend, had lovingly given from their hearts. A thank-you to the couple for their serving the churches the past three years. The Morrrows were speechless upon receiving the gift. The Rev. Morrow gave a few remarks and thanked everyone for such a generous gift.

The Fellowship in Charge of the Village Church was in class of the dinner with Clarabelle Pobst as chairman.

Ford Schedules Stay At Vail

FAIL, Colo. (AP) — Former President Gerald Ford has scheduled a long summer stay at this Rocky Mountain resort, his first as a private citizen.

Ford and his wife Betty are expected to arrive Thursday. They own a condominium here, but will stay at the home of Texas oilman David Bass.

Ford has vacationed at Vail for many years, first as a congressman from Michigan and later as vice president and president.

The aide said Ford was looking forward to "a quiet vacation and work time."

Barrett said Ford probably would spend "considerable" time here working on a book and preparing material for a television program.

Ford has signed a five-year contract with NBC to do one television documentary a year.

Jack Irwin of Florida is visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Irwin.

The Helping Hand Society of the Church of Christ in Christian Union met recently in the home of Betty Runkle. The meeting opened with the group singing "There Shall Be Showers of Blessings" and "How I Love To Tell The Story". Marvene Devors read the 6th Chapter of John for the Scripture Lesson and prayer was led by Edna Myers.

It was reported that 38 cards had been sent and one new name was added. Several games were played and won by Iva Leatherwood and Marvene Devors. Mrs. Leatherwood also won the door prize.

Following the meeting a pot-luck was enjoyed by Edna Myers, Nellie Clark, Iva Leatherwood, Marvene Devors, Mary Hill, Bea Conaway, Cestia Hower, Goldie Moore and the hostess Mrs. Runkle.

The next meeting will be held July 19 in the home of Sandy Timmons.

Beginning July 10 summer hours will be observed at First English Lutheran Church for Sunday School. The service will begin at 10:15 and conclude at 11 a.m.

A reception honoring the Rev. and Mrs. John Currens and family will be held in the social rooms of the Zion United Methodist Church on Sunday, July 17 at 1 p.m. This will be a carry-in dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Barch (Pamela Smith) announce the birth of a daughter, Erin Karla, June 24 in Grant Hospital.

Don't forget all entries in the baked goods, art and crafts are to be made Friday morning between 9 and 12 noon at the Ashville Elementary School auditorium. Flower Show entries will be made on July 2, 9:00 a.m. 9:00 a.m.

Community Church Services will be held in the Ashville Park on July 3, at 10:30 a.m. The Rev. Howard Allison of the South Bloomfield Methodist Church will give the message. A Community Choir will present the music.

Due to the combined worship service several changes have been made in the area Sunday Schools. The Village Church will be having theirs at 9 a.m., Church of Christ in Christian Union from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. Classes have been cancelled at First English Lutheran, Zion United Methodist, Hedges Chapel Methodist and Robtown Scioto Chapel.

The second annual Father-Son Banquet was held at the Zion United Methodist Church last Thursday evening with 70 in attendance. A delicious steak dinner was prepared and served by the women of the church.

The invocation was given by the Rev. John Currens. Following the dinner group singing was led by Richard Cook. A vocal solo was presented by Robert Cline. The closing prayer was given by the Rev. Kenneth Daft.

Several door prizes were awarded to those attending.

Mr. and Mrs. Steward Logsdon of California arrived in Ashville Tuesday evening to spend the 4th of July Holiday and to help his mother, Mrs. C. B. Morrison, to celebrate her birthday July 5th.

While here the Logsdons will also be visiting other relatives and friends.

John Chancellor May Jump Show

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC News says anchorman John Chancellor has decided to stay on and sign a long-term contract, but Chancellor's lawyer says it isn't so. Chancellor himself isn't saying anything.

CBS News reportedly has been trying to interest Chancellor in a spot on its news team, perhaps succeeding the retiring Eric Sevareid as news commentator.

Chancellor's Nightly News has been the main ratings challenge to Walter Cronkite on CBS.

An NBC spokesman said Tuesday that Chancellor, who has spent 26 years with NBC, would sign a contract for "more than three years" within a few days.

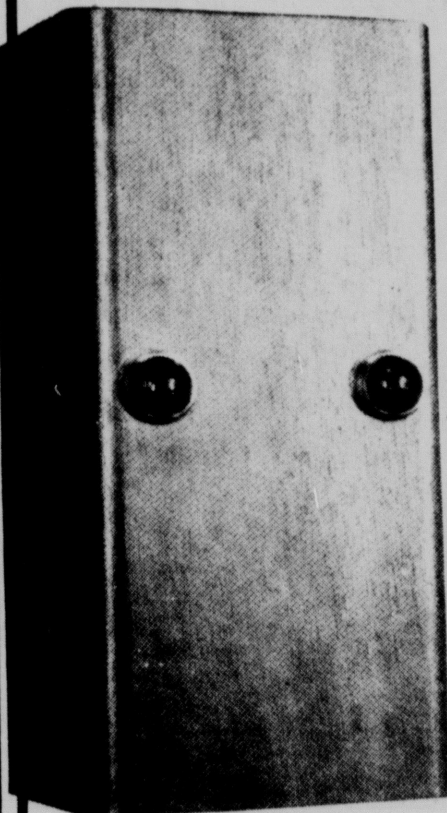

Chancellor would only say, "Ask my lawyer."

The lawyer, Ralph Mann of International Creative Management, said, "We have no deal with NBC... If there is any agreement that has been made, Chancellor and I don't know about it."

The Firemen answered a call on June 23, an auto fire on U.S. Route 23 at the South Park, damage estimated at $100.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Seeds of Denver, Colo., visited last week with his grandfather, Mr. Everett Seeds. Nick is associated with Colorado University.

Attending the Grand Council of the Pythian Sunshine Girls at Toledo this past weekend were Mary Lee Baum, Mrs. Frank Baum, Mrs. Everett Peters and her granddaughter, Cheryl Thompson of Harbor Hills. There were 28 members of the Capitol City Council present at the convention.

Mary Baum was elected to the office of Friendship of the Grand Council for the coming year.

A surprise birthday party honoring Goldia Hopper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hopper and Adam was held Sunday afternoon. Those in attendance from Ashville were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Diehl, the Rev. and Mrs. John Currens, Mrs. Hazel Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Cook, Mrs. Marie Wilson of Circleville, the Rev. and Mrs. Andy Mathias of Logan, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith of Reynoldsburg.

Mrs. Hopper was pleasantly surprised and received many useful gifts from her friends.

Harry Sark has returned to his home from Doctors Hospital, North.

One hundred twenty members of the Village and Hedges Chapel United Methodist Churches attended a Farewell Dinner last Thursday evening at the Village Church honoring the Rev. and Mrs. Starling Morrow and Kirby.

The Morrrows, upon entering the dining room, were greeted with a huge sign saying "Morrrows, We'll Keep In Touch 'Cause We Like You So Much". The sign had been painted by Dick Pobst.

The welcome and invocation was given by Robert Gregory. A bountiful carry-in dinner was enjoyed by all. A three-tiered cake, baked and decorated by Brenda Gibson, was given to the Morrrows. They also received the floral centerpiece which was on the honored guests' table. All other tables were decorated with bud vases filled with flowers.

Following the dinner Benis Lutz gave a few remarks and read from a card the poem "Friendship". He presented the card to the Rev. and Mrs. Morrow along with a "love gift" of $600.00 which those attending, and others who were unable to attend, had lovingly given from their hearts. A thank-you to the couple for their serving the churches the past three years. The Morrrows were speechless upon receiving the gift. The Rev. Morrow gave a few remarks and thanked everyone for such a generous gift.

The Fellowship Class of the Village Church was in charge of the dinner with Clarabelle Pobst as chairman.

Ford Schedules Stay At Vail

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — Former President Gerald Ford has scheduled a long summer stay at this Rocky Mountain resort, his first as a private citizen.

Ford and his wife Betty are expected to arrive Thursday. They own a condominium here, but will stay at the home of Texas oilman David Bass.

Ford has vacationed at Vail for many years, first as a congressman from Michigan and later as vice president and president.

The aide said Ford was looking forward to "a quiet vacation and work time."

Barrett said Ford probably would spend "considerable" time here working on a book and preparing material for a television program.

Ford has signed a five-year contract with NBC to do one television documentary a year.

Jack Irwin of Florida is visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Irwin.

The Helping Hand Society of the Church of Christ In Christian Union met recently in the home of Betty Runkle. The meeting opened with the group singing "There Shall Be Showers of Blessings" and "How I Love To Tell The Story". Marvene Devors read the 6th Chapter of John for the Scripture Lesson and prayer was led by Edna Myers.

It was reported that 38 cards had been sent and one new name was added. Several games were played and won by Iva Leatherwood and Marvene Devors. Mrs. Leatherwood also won the door prize.

Following the meeting a pot-luck was enjoyed by Edna Myers, Nellie Clark, Iva Leatherwood, Marvene Devors, Mary Hill, Bea Conaway, Cestia Hower, Goldie Moore and the hostess Mrs. Runkle.

The next meeting will be held July 19 in the home of Sandy Timmons.

Beginning July 10 summer hours will be observed at First English Lutheran Church for Sunday School. The service will begin at 10:15 and conclude at 11 a.m.

A reception honoring the Rev. and Mrs. John Currens and family will be held in the social rooms of the Zion United Methodist Church on Sunday, July 17 at 1 p.m. This will be a carry-in dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Barch (Pamela Smith) announce the birth of a daughter, Erin Karla, June 24 in Grant Hospital.

Don't forget all entries in the baked goods, art and arts and crafts are to be made Friday morning between 9 and 12 noon at the Ashville Elementary School auditorium. Flower Show entries will be made on July 2, 9:00 a.m. 9:00 a.m.

Community Church Services will be held in the Ashville Park on July 3, at 10:30 a.m. The Rev. Howard Allison of the South Bloomfield Methodist Church will give the message. A Community Choir will present the music.

Due to the combined worship service several changes have been made in the area Sunday Schools. The Village Church will be having theirs at 9 a.m., Church of Christ in Christian Union from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. Classes have been cancelled at First English Lutheran, Zion United Methodist, Hedges Chapel Methodist and Rob-town Scioto Chapel.

The second annual Father-Son Banquet was held at the Zion United Methodist Church last Thursday evening with 70 in attendance. A delicious steak dinner was prepared and served by the women of the church.

The invocation was given by the Rev. John Currens. Following the dinner group singing was led by Richard Cook. A vocal solo was presented by Robert Cline. The closing prayer was given by the Rev. Kenneth Daff.

Several door prizes were awarded to those attending.

Mr. and Mrs. Steward Logsdon of California arrived in Ashville Tuesday evening to spend the 4th of July Holiday and to help his mother, Mrs. C. B. Morrison, to celebrate her birthday July 5th.

While here the Logsdons will also be visiting other relatives and friends.

John Chancellor May Jump Show

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC News says anchorman John Chancellor has decided to stay on and sign a long-term contract, but Chancellor's lawyer says it isn't so. Chancellor himself isn't saying anything.

CBS News reportedly has been trying to interest Chancellor in a spot on its news team, perhaps succeeding the retiring Eric Sevareid as news commentator.

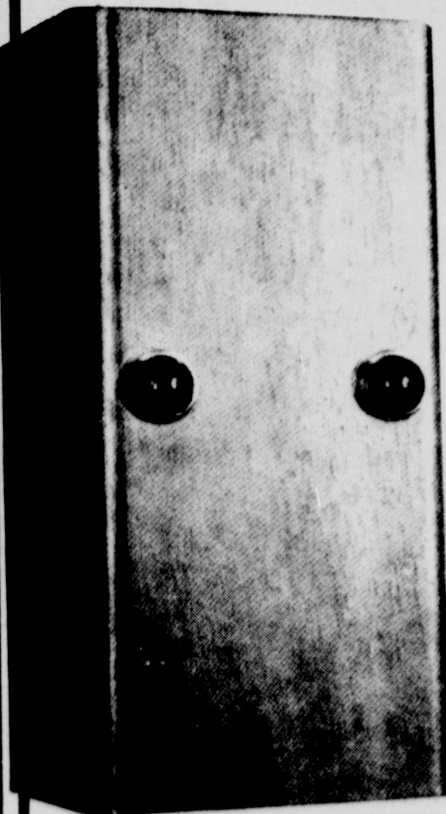

Chancellor's Nightly News has been the main ratings challenge to Walter Cronkite on CBS. An NBC spokesman said Tuesday that Chancellor, who has spent 26 years with NBC, would sign a contract for "more than three years" within a few days.

Chancellor would only say, "Ask my lawyer."

The lawyer, Ralph Mann of International Creative Management, said, "We have no deal with NBC ... If there is any agreement that has been made, Chancellor and I don't know about it."

$200 Million Fire Suit Initiated

COVINGTON, KY. (AP) — A $200 million class action suit was filed Wednesday on behalf of victims of the Beverly Hills Supper Club fire.

Cincinnati attorney Gene Mesh filed the suit in U.S. District Court for Allen D. and Marsha N. Byers, both of Indianapolis.

The suit asks for $40,000 damages for Byers and his wife, plus $100 million in compensatory damages and $100 million in punitive damages on behalf of all persons injured or killed by burns and smoke inhalation in the May 28 fire.

The suit names the same eight defendants listed in previous suits, including the 4-R Corp., Richard Schilling and his three sons, architect William Roeding, the City of Southgate and the Commonwealth of Kentucky. All are charged with some form of negligence in the fire which has resulted in 163 deaths.

"I really believe that in the type of situation involving a mass tragedy a class action is the only way to resolve it," Mesh said.

He said the action also would allow the Commonwealth of Kentucky to legislate a fund to indemnify victims, without admitting guilt.

Mesh said the suit would not conflict with the eight individual suits previously filed by fire victims.

Banker Elected Kiwanis Leader

DALLAS (AP) — Maurice Gladman, a Santa Ana, Calif. banker, was elected president of Kiwanis International Wednesday as the organization's 62nd annual convention came to an end.

Gladman, 58, will take office Oct. 1. He has been serving as president-elect, and succeeds Crestline, Ohio businessman Stanley Schneider.

The Cub Scout Pack, no. 773 with their leaders Bob and David Ash, went to the Laurelville fire house on Thursday evening June 16th where Assistant Fire Chief Tom Ebert and Junior assistant chief Brent Adams demonstrated the firemen's uniforms and equipment. The group also enjoyed a ride in the yellow fire truck.

Those who enjoyed the demonstration and the ride were Chip Rose, Max Thatcher, Brian Dean, Trent Barnes, Troyce Martin, Danny Holmes, Raymond Lowery and the leaders. Thank you very much, Tom and Brent. A very special thank you to Charlotte Ash of Laurelville and Arthur Goodwin, Mgr. of Circleville Burger Chef for their donations of craft material to our pack.

Laurelville was well represented (too well) at Berger Hospital last week. Mrs. Joyce Robinette was a medical patient, Mrs. Kathryn DeLong was a medical patient, both have been released now. Others were Mrs. Amon Kerns who suffered a fractured knee in a fall at her home. Mrs. Jim (Linda) Shaw had surgery and Harry Bainter was also a patient. Little Miss Glenna Kneese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Kneese has been a surgical patient in Children's hospital and her father, Glen is at home with his arm in a sling after being in a car accident and being in Lancaster Hospital for a week. Mr. G. H. (Hurst) Armstrong is a patient in Grant Hospital, Columbus.

Mrs. James (Denna) Eveland is visiting her parents, Bill and Ella Williams of Trabuco Canyon, Calif. Her mother recently underwent surgery. Denna flew out to be with her during her recuperation.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ash and Shannon were Charlotte Ash and Margaret Johnson. Evening visitors were Mr. and Mrs. George Hunt of Adelphi, Violet Parsons of Kingston, Mrs. Mildred Binkley, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Burton (Stephanie Binkley) and Jodi of Reynoldsburg.

Senators Agree On Abortion Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio Sens. John Glenn and Howard Metzenbaum voted with the majority Wednesday when the Senate adopted an amendment to allow federal funding of abortions where the life of the mother is endangered, where medically necessary or in cases of rape or incest.

In an earlier vote, the two Ohioans were on the losing side when an amendment was rejected to remove all restrictions on the use of federal funds for abortions.

Derby News

The Rev. Linda Stafford delivered her second sermon to the congregation of the Derby United Methodist Church last Sunday morning, on the sins of David, and the lesson therein, that you always reap what you sow. On Saturday morning she was in attendance at the Rock-a-thon at the Mt. Sterling I.G.A. store. The rock-a-thon began Friday night at the Derby Church and was a big success. There were about 19 Sunday school children participating who "slept over" on Friday night, but there was some doubt as to how much actual sleeping was done. However, all were quite ready to resume their rocking next morning, till 11 a.m.

Their combined efforts were well worth while as it was announced in Church that they had rocked their way to $300.15. A big hit was Eddie Weimer dressed as an old lady complete with wig and attire and who contributed much to their success. They wish to thank him, the other rockers, those who sponsored them, and all who participated. The money will go towards the remodeling of the parsonage.

Vacation Bible School is in progress this week at the Derby Church. There will be a meeting of the worship committee this Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Church.

I'd like to say that Kerwin, Jody, Tom and Marci Durlinger sang "One Day At A Time" beautifully together at Sunday morning services.

It was good to see Jody Durlinger and Marie Horn back after recent illness. Please remember the following with prayer; Florence Ball, recovering from surgery and now home, Mabel Stoer also had recent surgery and doing nicely; Eddie Weimer, and Linda Miller - each awaiting results of recent tests; Edmund Neal - still recuperating at home from a heart attack; Minnie Ridgway, now a patient at Pickaway Manor Nursing Home, Circleville, Nelle Bauhan, at Winchester Place, 36 Lehman Lane, Canal Winchester, Ohio - 43110; Harry Clark was admitted to Madison county hospital the past week; wife Eva is still recovering from leg injuries from a fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wardell, children Debbie and Mike, and nephew Jeff Higgins, their house guest for the summer, all enjoyed a picnic dinner and visit to Old Man's Cave in the Hocking Hills, on a recent Sunday.

In last week's column two previous owners of the former Bauhan store were omitted. They were a Mrs. Kim, and Paul Davis.

The July meetings for Derby I.O.O.F. Lodge no. 770 will be July 5 and 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the Lodge Hall. July meetings for the Derby Rebekahs Lodge no. 908 are July 6 and 20 at 7:30 p.m. The Derby Men's Club next meeting will be held July 13th at 8 p.m. at the Lodge Hall. The Men's Club and I.O.O.F. Lodge are planning the 63rd annual Homecoming Fish Fry in July, and dates will be announced soon.

The Tri-county Modulators next scheduled meeting is for Tuesday July 12th at 7:30 p.m. at the Clark's Lake Community building.

On Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Phillips, former Derby residents, now of Clarksburg, called on the Mr. and Mrs. Archie Sweet. That night they were guests at a cook-out at the home of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Vic Echard of Harrisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. William (Brad) Spradlin, Marisa, Phyllis and Clyde Smith, Diane and Ricky, have returned from a three week trip to California.

Friday night callers of the Archie Sweets were Frank Schaefer and Mrs. Ernest Frazier, of Springfield.

A special birthday greeting goes to Glenn Spangler Sr. June 28 from his Derby-nieces and nephews.

Summer camp is in progress for girls age 8-11 this week from the Southwest Community Church of the Nazarene; junior high camp is scheduled for ages 12-14 from August 15-19; senior high camp for ages 15-19 will be held from August 8-12. Summer Bible School at the Southwest Community Church is to be held August 15-19.

A father-son camp-out is planned for Saturday July 9 by the Southwest Community Church.

Woman's Jewelry: Living Beetles

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — Mimi Jaspan of Roanoke, Va., seldom goes out without a pet brooch, a living rhinestone-studded tropical beetle from Mexico.

She has five. She keeps them in an antique pitcher when she is at home. They don't live long; their normal lifespan ranges from eight to 10 months.

Sometimes "they play dead if they don't want to go out with me," she says, adding that since she is accustomed to their strategy, they usually come around by the time she is ready to leave.

Other times, though, they hibernate for weeks at a time and then she has to wait till they wake up, she says.

Mrs. Jaspan, who became used to having the bugs as playmates and pets as a youngster in Merida, Mexico, was here recently to attend a cat show.

The two-inch-long bugs come from deep in Mexico's Yucatan jungle, where natives call them Maketch. She says it was only 10 years ago that natives began to use them as live jewelry.

They don't breed in captivity, Mrs. Jaspan says, and they eat so little of the piece of log that comes with them that in Mexico, picky eaters are said to "eat like a Maketch."

She and her husband Carl, both semiretired music teachers, travel extensively, and the crawling brooches go with them. They have circled the world once; and they have gone to Europe eight times. They go to Mexico every two years.

Jaspan says they draw crowds wherever they go because of the living pins. They have other pets—one Persian and eight Himalayan cats, two St. Bernards and a poodle.

"She's called 'the bug lady' and I'm called 'the St. Bernard man,'" he says, "and we're having the time of our lives."

The living lapel decorations mostly provoke one of two reactions: horror, or a desire to pick one up and play with it, Mrs. Jaspan says.

She recalls the bugs caused quite a stir in Hong Kong because the shopkeepers there pride themselves on having "anything from anywhere in the world" for sale but didn't have the Maketch.

The only place Mrs. Jaspan refuses to take a Maketch is to a wedding, she says, explaining she is sure "it would steal the show away from the bride."

Hybrid Coffee Plant Developed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Brazilian microbiologist believes he has discovered the better coffee plant. But he's not quite sure yet.

"We don't know what we will get, except a different plant," said Maro Sondahl, who has been doing research on ways to grow coffee plants whose beans can withstand Brazilian frosts.

Sondahl, 33, worked with Ohio State Associate Professor William Sharp. They changed genetic information on a leaf of one coffee plant and "grew" a plant without a seed.

Everything worked out in the laboratory — the plant seemed to stand up to cold conditions. But the real test comes next, with the transplanting of the coffee plants to soil in Brazil.

If it works, Sondahl hopes it will lead to a cheaper cup of coffee.

Weather Systems To Affect Farmers

By The Associated Press

Here is the agriculture weather advisory for Ohio provided by the National Weather Service:

A clear, pleasantly cool day with temperatures in the 50s and 60s greeted Ohio today as weather systems were moving rapidly across the northern U.S.

Fronts from the next weather system will be pushing through Ohio by early Friday and scattered thunderstorms will be back to western Ohio by this afternoon.

Field Operations — Sunny and good drying weather Wednesday left most soils in workable conditions across Ohio. Many farms still need rain, especially where double crop preparations are intended. Some scattered wetting was back over western Ohio late this afternoon, and will be over all the state tonight and ending in east early Friday. Moisture consumption through plant use and evaporation will be around 0.20 hundredths of an inch today with possible increases Friday as drier air returns to the state. Looking ahead, the next frontal area will be stalling in the Tennessee Valley so weekend weather will be mainly fair, except for the chance of afternoon thundershower wetting in south.

Harvesting and Haying — Both combine and haying operations should be possible today with any interruption from precipitation, probably not until mid or late afternoon in west. Drying should be sufficient Friday to get back to combine operations by afternoon Saturday. New hay cuttings in north and central Ohio will have a fairly good chance for curing and harvested with low rain risk thru the weekend.

Livestock Care — Late June and July are typically stress periods for livestock with short pastures, high temperature and humidity frequently problems. Keeping shady places for cattle to seek protection from heat and abundant water supply will keep production up and good growth active.

Derby News

The Rev. Linda Stafford delivered her second sermon to the congregation of the Derby United Methodist Church last Sunday morning, on the sins of David, and the lesson therein, that you always reap what you sow. On Saturday morning she was in attendance at the Rock-a-thon at the Mt. Sterling I.G.A. store. The rock-a-thon began Friday night at the Derby Church and was a big success. There were about 19 Sunday school children participating who "slept over" on Friday night, but there was some doubt as to how much actual sleeping was done. However, all were quite ready to resume their rocking next morning, till 11 a.m.

Their combined efforts were well worth while as it was announced in Church that they had rocked their way to $300.15. A big hit was Eddie Weiner dressed as an old lady complete with wig and attire and who contributed much to their success. They wish to thank him, the other rockers, those who sponsored them, and all who participated. The money will go towards the remodeling of the parsonage.

Vacation Bible School is in progress this week at the Derby Church. There will be a meeting of the worship committee this Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Church.

I'd like to say that Kerwin, Jody, Tom and Marci Durlinger sang "One Day At A Time" beautifully together at Sunday morning services.

It was good to see Jody Durlinger and Marie Horn back after recent illness. Please remember the following with prayer: Florence Ball, recovering from surgery and now home, Mabel Stoeer also had recent surgery and doing nicely; Eddie Weiner, and Linda Miller - each awaiting results of recent tests; Edmund Neal - still recuperating at home from a heart attack; Minnie Ridgway, now a patient at Pickaway Manor Nursing Home, Circleville, Nelle Bauhan, at Winchester Place, 36 Lehman Lane, Canal Winchester, Ohio - 43110; Harry Clark was admitted to Madison county hospital the past week; wife Eva is still recovering from leg injuries from a fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wardell, children Debbie and Mike, and nephew Jeff Higgins, their house guest for the summer, all enjoyed a picnic dinner and visit to Old Man's Cave in the Hocking Hills, on a recent Sunday.

In last week's column two previous owners of the former Bauhan house were omitted. They were a Mrs. Kim, and Paul Davis.

The July meetings for Derby I.O.O.F. Lodge no. 770 will be July 5 and 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the Lodge Hall. July meetings for the Derby Rebekahs Lodge no. 908 are July 6 and 20 at 7:30 p.m. The Derby Men's Club next meeting will be held July 13th at 8 p.m. at the Lodge Hall. The Men's Club and I.O.O.F. Lodge are planning the 63rd annual Homecoming Fish Fry in July, and dates will be announced soon.

The Tri-county Modulators next scheduled meeting is for Tuesday July 12th at 7:30 p.m. at the Clark's Lake Community building.

On Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Phillips, former Derby residents, now of Clarksburg, called on the Mr. and Mrs. Archie Sweet. That night they were guests at a cook-out at the home of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Vic Echard of Harrisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. William (Brad) Spradlin, Marisa, Phyllis and Clyde Smith, Diane and Ricky, have returned from a three week trip to California.

Friday night callers of the Archie Sweets were Frank Schaefer and Mrs. Ernest Frazier, of Springfield.

A special birthday greeting goes to Glenn Spangler Sr. June 28 from his Derby-nieces and nephews.

Summer camp is in progress for girls age 8-11 this week from the Southwest Community Church of the Nazarene; junior high camp is scheduled for ages 12-14 from August 15-19; senior high camp for ages 15-19 will be held from August 8-12. Summer Bible School at the Southwest Community Church is to be held August 15-19.

A father-son camp-out is planned for Saturday July 9 by the Southwest Community Church.

Woman's Jewelry: Living Beetles

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — Mimi Jaspas of Roanoke, Va., seldom goes out without a pet brooch, a living rhinestone-studded tropical beetle from Mexico.

She has five. She keeps them in an antique pitcher when she is at home. They don't live long; their normal lifespan ranges from eight to 10 months.

Sometimes "they play dead if they don't want to go out with me," she says, adding that since she is accustomed to their strategy, they usually come around by the time she is ready to leave.

Other times, though, they hibernate for weeks at a time and then she has to wait till they wake up, she says.

Mrs. Jaspas, who became used to having the bugs as playmates and pets as a youngster in Merida, Mexico, was here recently to attend a cat show. The two-inch-long bugs come from deep in Mexico's Yucatan jungle, where natives call them Maketch. She says it was only 10 years ago that natives began to use them as live jewelry.

They don't breed in captivity, Mrs. Jaspas says, and they eat so little of the piece of log that comes with them that in Mexico, picky eaters are said to "eat like a Maketch."

She and her husband Carl, both semiretired music teachers, travel extensively, and the crawling brooches go with them. They have circled the world once; and they have gone to Europe eight times. They go to Mexico every two years.

Jaspas says they draw crowds wherever they go because of the living pins. They have other pets—one Persian and eight Himalayan cats, two St. Bernards and a poodle.

"She's called 'the bug lady' and I'm called 'the St. Bernard man,'" he says, "and we're having the time of our lives."

The living lapel decorations mostly provoke one of two reactions: horror, or a desire to pick one up and play with it, Mrs. Jaspas says.

She recalls the bugs caused quite a stir in Hong Kong because the shopkeepers there pride themselves on having "anything from anywhere in the world" for sale but didn't have the Maketch.

The only place Mrs. Jaspas refuses to take a Maketch is to a wedding, she says, explaining she is sure "it would steal the show away from the bride."

With all the activities planned for the opening of Ashville's Fourth of July Celebration, it can truly be said that things will start with a BANG! Friday's activities will be highlighted after the parade with the pageant of the queen contestants. The parade begins at 7 p.m. with opening ceremonies and the judging afterwards at the grandstand.

The present Fourth of July Queen Miss Patty Ford and her court will turn over their reign after their last ride in the parade. Kim Thomas is first attendant and Paula Jo Tussing is the second.

Winners of the float contest and all entries will also ride in the parade. All float entries should be in the parade route promptly at 6 p.m. for the judging.

During the pageant the Ashville Community Club will present the senior citizens awards to outstanding men in the community age 65 years and over. Recipients are given a plaque and a golden membership card.

Also in Ashville, all exhibits in the arts and crafts building at the Ashville School Auditorium will be on display beginning Friday evening. The judging of arts and crafts, baked goods, arts and the flower show will be in the afternoon.

The following is a list of the queen contestants, their parents, address and schools. They will be treated to dinner at the Ashville Coffee Shop before the parade by the Reynolds Aluminum Plant.

Nancy Seaver Denies Jealousy Of Ryans

CINCINNATI (AP) — Nancy Seaver denies she was jealous of California Angels pitcher Nolan Ryan when her husband Tom pitched for the New York Mets. And she says she doesn't expect her opinion of Ryan to change now that Seaver is with the Cincinnati Reds.

She denied in a recent interview a published report that she envied the paycheck of California Angel star Nolan Ryan. The report so infuriated Seaver that he demanded to be traded from the Mets.

"I don't know where in the world he (the reporter) dug that up. All one has to do is look at Tom's record and there's no reason for being envious of anyone. As for the money, I don't even know how much Nolan earns."

She added that Ryan and his wife, Ruth, are among the Seavers' closest friends in baseball.

"When you're really close friends with someone, you only wish them the best."

Nancy's arrival in Cincinnati joins her with Carolyn Rose, another of baseball's most famous wives.

"Carolyn (wife of Reds star Pete Rose) was the first person from Cincinnati to call me after the trade. She wanted to let us know that she would do whatever she could to help us get settled. A woman who felt threatened wouldn't do that.

"Besides, Tom and I have been in this game for 10 years; Pete and Carolyn even longer. We've all grown past any petty jealousies. Carolyn, to me, is a delightful person."

"Tom still looks kind of funny in red, but I'm starting to get used to it," Nancy says of her husband, who Wednesday made his third start for the Reds since being traded June 15.

After the trade, to remain year-round in the family's Greenwich, Conn., home was "unthinkable," she said.

"No, we will be moving to Cincinnati at least for the summers, though I will be taking Sarah back to Greenwich this fall for school."

The Seavers have two daughters: Sarah, 6, and Anne, 20 months.

"Sarah doesn't really understand what getting traded means," said her mother. "So I think if we can keep things the same for a while everything will work itself out."

Baseball has not always been a major part of Nancy's life. The first time she saw her husband pitch was in the minor leagues on the eve of their 1966 wedding in Jacksonville, Fla.

"Just to show you how dumb I was back then," she recalled, "a friend poked me and said, 'Oh, look, there's Tom in the on-deck circle.' I didn't have the slightest idea where to look. I'd never heard of an on-deck circle."

Leave 'Abandoned' Animals Alone

By JIM DAUBEL

For The Associated Press

Newspaper editors around Ohio receive many photo requests about this time from people who have "rescued" wild birds or animals they believe are orphans.

Such requests often result in publication of pictures showing the proud adoptive parents giving chopped worms to a featherless fledgling, nursing a clutch of cottontail rabbits with an eye dropper or bottle feeding a young raccoon.

Everyone involved has good intentions. Unfortunately, the best ideas occasionally encounter unforeseen problems.

It is against the law to keep wild birds and animals without a permit. When a picture of that concerned family and its wild guests appears, the local game protector may end up confiscating the critters.

And, wildlife that appears abandoned often is not, and human "rescue" efforts frequently do more harm than good.

Recently a baby robin wandered into the spray in a backyard sprinkler. It stayed put for quite some time, enjoying the cooling shower, until children spotted it.

Assuming the bird was injured, orphaned, or both, they dried it off and warmed it in fluffy towels. Within 30 minutes the bird died. For several hours thereafter the adult birds maintained a vigil in the area, looking for the missing juvenile.

Such occurrences are not rare in spring when most Ohio wildlife reproduces.

Laws against harboring wild creatures are not meant to be cruel to animals or humans. Just the opposite.

Most animals that appear abandoned are not. A rabbit leaves its young alone in a fur-lined ground nest most of the day, returning to nurse several times in a 24-hour period.

A whitetail deer fawn has little fear of man initially. It may wander from forested areas into a residential zone, then return to its mother if unmolested.

As suburban development expands, man intrudes into areas formerly the domain of wildlife. Over a period of time the animals will retreat but both must endure some coexistence for a time.

Most people lack facilities or knowledge necessary to help a bird or animal that is truly abandoned. Being taken into captivity under those circumstances can be worse for the wildlife than being left to fend for itself.

Moreover, wildlife kept in captivity for any length of time becomes dependent on its surrogate parents and often cannot survive when returned to the wild.

The best advice is to leave young wildlife alone. When that is impossible without obviously endangering the young, contact your county game protector through your local police or sheriff's office if you don't know how to reach him directly.

Game protectors are trained to cope with such situations. They can help or advise you on how to proceed.

Greenfield Tournament Scheduled

District Eight fast pitch and Class B slow pitch tournament drawing will be held 3 p.m. July 10 at Meade Park, Chillicothe.

The tournament will be played at the John Mitchell Park, Greenfield, starting July 16.

No entries will be accepted after the drawing. An entry fee is required plus a nonsanction fee.

For more information call Jean Fugate, 513-981-2516 or 513-981-2914.

The New York Yankees have drawn more than one million fans a year on the road for the last 31 seasons.

On Sept. 28, 1975, the Oakland A's used four pitchers to post a no-hitter against California. The hurlers were Vida Blue, Glenn Abbott, Paul Lindblad and Rollie Fingers.

'Ole Peapicker' Enjoying Life

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — At 58, Tennessee Ernie Ford says life is shaping up just about the way he wants it.

The "Ole Peapicker," as the mellow-voiced country and religious song stylist is known to fans, said he's playing now about as much as he's working.

"I'm working about six months out of the year," Ford said in an interview. "Sometimes there will be a couple of weeks when I won't do anything but what I want to do" — like "floating and fishing on the Arkansas River."

"I'm quite an active man yet — in diversified things. I perform quite a bit, but not on a week-to-week basis," Ford said.

Ford's professional life nowadays includes making commercials, television specials and talk shows and appearing at state fairs and Nevada casinos. This summer he's planning a special to be taped aboard a Mississippi riverboat.

He has just signed a contract with Word Records, the biggest distributor worldwide of religious music. "I've picked 11 good, old, well-known Gospel hymns that will be our first album for Word, and we'll do that the first week in June," said Ford, who has cut 83 albums.

"My faith has always been very strong with me. I've always loved religious music, and I've sung it since I was 3 years old," said Ford, who was raised a Methodist in Bristol, Tenn. "When I got into television, I had the opportunity to present this music in a way I thought people wanted to hear it. It is great music and you can smile when you sing it — you don't have to put on sackcloth and sit in a pile of ashes."

His biggest hit was "16 Tons," the tale of a hard-working, poor man who keeps sinking deeper in debt. The "great documentary folk song," as Ford calls it, sold seven million single records.

In Portola Valley, the wealthy suburb 30 miles to the south where he moved after leaving his highly rated TV series in 1961, Ford's personal life revolves mostly around neighbors, wife Betty and the Sharon Heights Golf and Country Club.

His two sons are grown and are making their own careers in Nashville, the unofficial headquarters for Ford's style of music. Brion, 27, is married and singing; Buck, 25, is writing, producing and performing.

That gives Tennessee Ernie and Betty, his wife of 34 years, "a brand new life," he said. A lingering pain in the elbow has curbed his golf game, but not his domino-playing with friends.

Ford said he likes being able to pick and choose what to do and when to do it. He said it gives him more time for youth work, leisure and spending time with people.

DIFFERENT GENERATIONS — Bill Shoemaker, 45, dean of riders, watches scale as riding's newest sensation, 17-year-old Steve Cauthen, poses for picture before they met in fourth annual All Star Jockey Race at Hollywood Park, Inglewood, Calif. It was the final day as an apprentice for Cauthen, whose 275 wins through May lead the nation. Shoemaker finished eighth in the Jockey Race, with Cauthen coming in tenth.

Santa Cruz Salamander

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — Sally is protected now.

Sally is a nickname for the endangered Santa Cruz long-toed salamander. The creature occupies only two spots in the world, Ellicott Pond and Valencia Lagoon, both in Santa Cruz County. The total population is about 10,000.

To protect her, the county board of supervisors has adopted an "SP" (salamander protection) district in which any construction must take into account the habits of the shy, slow-moving salamander. In such a district, all new curbs and gutters must be rounded; building sites must be made passable for salamanders; grading of Sally's habitat vegetation must be kept to a minimum and continuous retaining walls longer than 100 feet must have gently sloped ramps for them.

"People are saying we must be joking when they learn of the requirements," said Robin Felburg, an associate planner for the county. "They tell us we are putting salamanders before people, but we felt we could preserve the salamander's habitat without unusual restrictions."

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Preparing women to run for public office is the aim of a new course Indiana University will offer in the fall.

The project, funded by a $33,000 grant from the Indiana Higher Education Commission, will be conducted by the IU School of Public and Environmental Affairs.

The workshops will be offered during October and November at IU campuses in Bloomington, Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Gary and South Bend.

Bob Coluccio's 10th-inning triple followed by Rich Cerone's single made the difference Wednesday evening as the Charleston Charlies overcame an 8-run deficit to post a 9-8 International League baseball victory over the Columbus Clippers.

It was Cerone's third RBI of the night.

In other IL action, Richmond socked Rochester, 4-1; Pawtucket slashed Syracuse 10-6 and Tidewater topped Toledo 5-2.

Jim Breazeale and Jerry Maddox each slammed two-run homers and Eddie Solomon hurled a three-hitter to highlight the Richmond victory.

Pawtucket got homers from Jack Baker, Ron Evans and Bo Diaz.

2 Men Freed In Rape Case

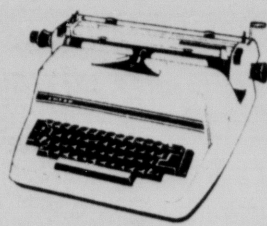

PORTLAND, Ind. (AP) — Judge Dale Hunt of Jay Circuit Court has freed two men accused of raping a 15-year-old girl.

Hunt dismissed charges Wednesday against Nick Comstock, 23, and Jeffrey Florence, 21, one day after he had declared a mistrial.

The judge said he dismissed charges because of a double jeopardy problem. He declared the mistrial after the defense objected that jurors could not hear the soft-spoken alleged victim.

Earlier, Hunt ruled Indiana's 1975 shield law unconstitutional because it limited the defendant's right to cross examine some prosecution witnesses.

Stolen Mare May Have Miscarriage

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — There is a 90 per cent chance that a stolen mare in foal to Secretariat could miscarry unless she is recovered soon and administered an anti-abortion drug, a veterinarian says.

Fanfreliche, stolen last weekend from a remote pasture of Claiborne Farm in Paris, Ky., requires a hormone treatment to maintain pregnancy, said Dr. Walter Kaufman on Wednesday.

"She has required it on each of her pregnancies," Kaufman said Wednesday in an interview. "It's a product called depo-provera, a progesterone."

Fanfreliche last received the drug June 22 and was due for another treatment anywhere from three weeks to a month later, Kaufman said.

The mare, owned by Canadian horseman Jean Louis Levesque and sired by 1964 Kentucky Derby winner Northern Dancer, had been in foal to Secretariat for about two months.

Kaufman and Seth Hancock, whose family owns the farm, said they did not think anyone else knew about the mare's condition.

Unless the thieves can administer the drug, "they're going to have a barren mare on their hands pretty soon," Hancock said.

Because the theft apparently was well-planned, the thieves might have known about the mare's condition, Kaufman said.

"I don't know how they would have found out, but they did know exactly which pasture she was in," he said.

Kaufman said Fanfreliche's disorder is rare, but not unheard of. "Occasionally, you have an habitual aborter," he said. "It (the) pregnancy gets so far along and then they abort. This mare fits in that category at least one time."

"She's done very well since we've had her on the drug," he said.

"She does need this drug and we were hoping to have her back before she required any more."

State and federal officials said Wednesday they were following several leads in the case.

Hancock said no ransom demand had been made for the horse's return.

Grand Teton Mountains Called The Alps Of North America

By DIEDRE POLING
For The Herald

Often called the Alps of North America, the Grand Teton National Park presents a magnificent landscape to the tourists who visit them.

Grand Teton National Park includes the major portion of the Teton Range of Wyoming and the famous Jackson Hole Valley. The park contains eight large lakes, many small lakes and ponds, 12 glaciers, numerous snowfields and large forests of pine, spruce and fir.

Both summer and winter sports are popular in the park. Mountain climbing, horseback tours, fishing and float trips rank among the most popular activities for the summer. Skiing and snowmobiling are added in the winter months.

The Grand Teton Park has three visitor centers. One center, located at Colter Bay, contains an excellent exhibit of the Indians' arts and crafts.

The Fur Trade Museum, located in the visitors center at Moose, features the exploration of the valley for the trapping of beaver.

The third center, located at the southern entrance, is used as an information center.

Jackson Hole, a land-locked valley east of the Teton Range, became an important area to the pioneers and trappers.

For the pioneer, it was a welcome opening through the mountains as well as a place to rest and feed their livestock.

The many trappers who trapped the Colorado, Columbia and Missouri Rivers which meet in this valley, used it as a rendezvous point to ship their pelts east.

Although isolated for many years by distance and poor roads, it became a popular spot for the rich and the royalty.

This beginning resulted in the founding of the dude ranch, now a major industry of the area.

At the southern end of the park lies the colorful Western town of Jackson with its board sidewalks.

Full of entertainment, it offers the sightseer a night on the town and a chance to buy souvenirs.

A mock robbery and shootout occurs every evening at 7 p.m. in town square by the Cache Creek Posse.

The town contains many playhouses for both the family and adults as well as numerous restaurants with menus ranging from hamburgers to continental cuisine.

Rich in history and mountain scenery, the Grand Teton National Park and its adjacent town offers something different to each of its visitors.

A Tour Of New Philadelphia And Ohio Country History

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of short tours of Ohio travel attractions prepared by Columbus Automobile Club for Circleville Herald.

A tour of New Philadelphia and its nearby towns and villages is a visit into Ohio history in what early settlers called "Ohio Country." Ohio Country's first church and school were in Schoenbrunn Village. Constructed originally in 1772, they and some of the log cabin dwellings have been rebuilt on their original foundations, which were rediscovered 150 years after the village had been razed.

The outdoor drama, "Trumpet in the Land," performed in the amphitheater just south of New Philadelphia, tells the story of the village's Moravian missionaries and their efforts to bring Christianity to the Indians.

Zoar Village is another chapter in Ohio Country history. Settled by German emigrants who sought religious freedom, in 1817, the restored homes, workshops and gardens of the village illustrate the lifestyle and the success of this early experiment in communal living.

In Gnadenhutten, the only fort in Ohio during the Revolutionary War still stands. Fort Laurens houses a museum and a multimedia theatre, which offers a continuous slide-sound production, "The American Revolution." Gnadenhutten was also the site of another Moravian mission where 90 Christian Indians were massacred in 1782.

Ohio Civil War memorabilia include the partially restored home of the famous "Fighting McCooks" and the Morgan Raid Marker, both of which are in Carrollton. The Civil War is further documented in the exhibit pavilion in New Rumley, which stands at the birthplace of George Custer. The life story of this Calvary officer and Indian fighter is depicted in photographs and other graphic materials.

Among the many attractions in the New Philadelphia area, Warther's of Dover is a must. The work of the master carver, the Late Ernest Warther, is on display, including 64 hand carved, operating, miniature locomotives that tell the history of the steam engine in wood and ivory. Some items are available for purchase in the adjoining gift shop.

To visit these and the many other points of interest in the New Philadelphia area, a recommended route from Circleville, northeast on US 22 to SR 37; north on SR 37 to I-70; east on I-70 to I-77; north on I-77 to SR 39; east on SR 39 to New Philadelphia.

Irrigation Bad News

THREE RIVERS, Calif. (AP) — A do-it-yourself irrigation system has led to the arrest of two men on narcotics violations.

Tulare County sheriff's officers were tipped that "something suspicious" was going on at an irrigation channel on the Kaweah River near this Sierra Nevada mountain community.

Deputies checked and found that someone was siphoning water from the channel into a small water tank.

A hose led from the water tank to a small plot of ground.

And in the plot were more than 100 thriving marijuana plants, the sheriff's office reported Wednesday.

Deputies said they confiscated the plants and arrested Bradley Thompson, 19, of Three Rivers and Eric Diesel, 21, of Tarzana for investigation of several narcotics violations, including cultivating marijuana.

Bob Dylan's Wife Receives Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Bob Dylan, who once recorded a love song to his wife Sarah, has divorced her after 11 years of marriage. They have five children.

A spokesman for Dylan, one of the most influential pop musicians of the late 1960s, said the divorce was granted Wednesday in Santa Monica Superior Court.

The court retained jurisdiction over the couple's community property, including Dylan's real estate holdings, songwriting royalties and other investments. The division of the property will be made later, the spokesman said.

Track Rites Hit Snag

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Officials at the Meadowlands racetrack were left at the gate after making a major promotional project out of what was supposed to be the track's first wedding.

The between-races ceremony, scheduled for Wednesday night, was canceled because neither the bride nor the groom could be found.

Gertrude Panico, 24, and her fiancé, Thomas O'Neill, 27, both of Newark, had asked track officials to let them marry at the Meadowlands because they are ardent racing fans.

The track, happy to oblige, planned to conduct the rites in the winner's circle between the second and third races.

But when neither of the principals had been heard from since last Friday, the track "sent someone out to O'Neill's home and place of work. But no one was there," a spokesman said. "They just disappeared."

"We wanted to have a dignified affair," the spokesman added. "We may try it again with a more reliable couple."

"But do you know anyone who would like a four-foot wedding cake?"

Jane Fonda Cash Donation Legal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Election Commission has decided that actress Jane Fonda's $400,000 donation to a U.S. Senate candidate was legal because the candidate was her husband.

The FEC ruled Wednesday that under California's community property law, the combined assets of a married couple are held in common, and there is no legal limit on how much a candidate can spend on his own behalf.

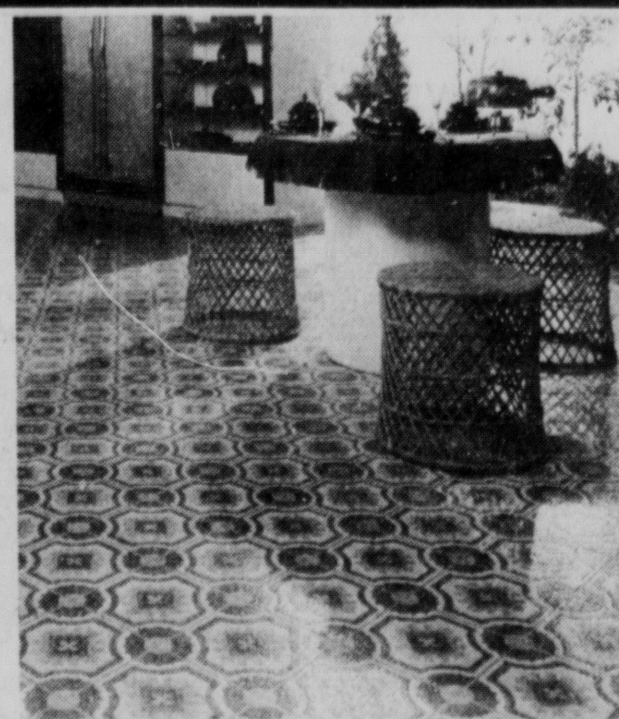

A complaint was filed with the commission last year by supporters of John Tunney, who defeated Miss Fonda's husband, Tom Hayden, for the Democratic nomination from California.

Tunney was defeated for reelection by Republican S.I. Hayakawa.

Tunney's backers contended that Miss Fonda had violated a section of the federal election law that limits individual contributions to $1,000 per candidate.

Grand Teton Mountains Called The Alps Of North America

By DIEDRE POLING
For The Herald

Often called the Alps of North America, the Grand Tetons present a magnificent landscape to the tourists who visit them.

Grand Teton National Park includes the major portion of the Teton Range of Wyoming and the famous Jackson Hole Valley. The park contains eight large lakes, many small lakes and ponds, 12 glaciers, numerous snowfields and large forests of pine, spruce and fir.

Both summer and winter sports are popular in the park. Mountain climbing, horseback tours, fishing and float trips rank among the most popular activities for the summer. Skiing and snowmobiling are added in the winter months.

The Grand Teton Park has three visitor centers. One center, located at Colter Bay, contains an excellent exhibit of the Indians' arts and crafts.

The Fur Trade Museum, located in the visitors center at Moose, features the exploration of the valley for the trapping of beaver.

The third center, located at the southern entrance, is used as an information center.

Jackson Hole, a land-locked valley east of the Teton Range, became an important area to the pioneers and trappers.

For the pioneer, it was a welcome opening through the mountains as well as a place to rest and feed their livestock.

The many trappers who trapped the Colorado, Columbia and Missouri Rivers which meet in this valley, used it as a rendezvous point to ship their pelts east.

Although isolated for many years by distance and poor roads, it became a popular spot for the rich and the royalty.

This beginning resulted in the founding of the dude ranch, now a major industry of the area.

At the southern end of the park lies the colorful Western town of Jackson with its board sidewalks.

Full of entertainment, it offers the sightseer a night on the town and a chance to buy souvenirs.

A mock robbery and shootout occurs every evening at 7 p.m. in town square by the Cache Creek Posse.

The town contains many playhouses for both the family and adults as well as numerous restaurants with menus ranging from hamburgers to continental cuisine.

Rich in history and mountain scenery, the Grand Tetons National Park and its adjacent town offers something different to each of its visitors.

A Tour Of New Philadelphia And Ohio Country History

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of short tours of Ohio travel attractions prepared by Columbus Automobile Club for Circleville Herald.

A tour of New Philadelphia and its nearby towns and villages is a visit into Ohio history in what early settlers called "Ohio Country." Ohio Country's first church and school were in Schoenbrunn Village. Constructed originally in 1772, they and some of the log cabin dwellings have been rebuilt on their original foundations, which were rediscovered 150 years after the village had been razed.

The outdoor drama, "Trumpet in the Land," performed in the amphitheater just south of New Philadelphia, tells the story of the village's Moravian missionaries and their efforts to bring Christianity to the Indians.

Zoar Village is another chapter in Ohio Country history. Settled by German emigrants who sought religious freedom, in 1817, the restored homes, workshops and gardens of the village illustrate the lifestyle and the success of this early experiment in communal living.

In Gnadenhütten, the only fort in Ohio during the Revolutionary War still stands. Fort Laurens houses a museum and a multimedia theatre, which offers a continuous slide-sound production, "The American Revolution." Gnadenhütten was also the site of another Moravian mission where 90 Christian Indians were massacred in 1782.

Ohio Civil War memorabilia include the partially restored home of the famous "Fighting McCooks" and the Morgan Raid Marker, both of which are in Carrollton. The Civil War is further documented in the exhibit pavilion in New Rumley, which stands at the birthplace of George Custer. The life story of this Calvary officer and Indian fighter is depicted in photographs and other graphic materials.

Among the many attractions in the New Philadelphia area, Warther's of Dover is a must. The work of the master carver, the Late Ernest Warther, is on display, including 64 hand carved, operating, miniature locomotives that tell the history of the steam engine in wood and ivory. Some items are available for purchase in the adjoining gift shop.

To visit these and the many other points of interest in the New Philadelphia area, a recommended route from Circleville, northeast on US 22 to SR 37; north on SR 37 to I-70; east on I-70 to I-77; north on I-77 to SR 39; east on SR 39 to New Philadelphia.

Track Rites Hit Snag

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Officials at the Meadowlands racetrack were left at the gate after making a major promotional project out of what was supposed to be the track's first wedding.

The between-races ceremony, scheduled for Wednesday night, was canceled because neither the bride nor the groom could be found.

Gertrude Panico, 24, and her fiancé, Thomas O'Neill, 27, both of Newark, had asked track officials to let them marry at the Meadowlands because they are ardent racing fans.

The track, happy to oblige, planned to conduct the rites in the winner's circle between the second and third races.

But when neither of the principals had been heard from since last Friday, the track "sent someone out to O'Neill's home and place of work. But no one was there," a spokesman said. "They just disappeared."

"We wanted to have a dignified affair," the spokesman added. "We may try it again with a more reliable couple."

"But do you know anyone who would like a four-foot wedding cake?"

Jane Fonda Cash Donation Legal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Election Commission has decided that actress Jane Fonda's $400,000 donation to a U.S. Senate candidate was legal because the candidate was her husband.

The FEC ruled Wednesday that under California's community property law, the combined assets of a married couple are held in common, and there is no legal limit on how much a candidate can spend on his own behalf.

A complaint was filed with the commission last year by supporters of John Tunney, who defeated Miss Fonda's husband, Tom Hayden, for the Democratic nomination from California.

Tunney was defeated for reelection by Republican S.I. Hayakawa.

Tunney's backers contended that Miss Fonda had violated a section of the federal election law that limits individual contributions to $1,000 per candidate.

Irrigation Bad News

THREE RIVERS, Calif. (AP) — A do-it-yourself irrigation system has led to the arrest of two men on narcotics violations.

Tulare County sheriff's officers were tipped that "something suspicious" was going on at an irrigation channel on the Kaweah River near this Sierra Nevada mountain community.

Deputies checked and found that someone was siphoning water from the channel into a small water tank.

A hose led from the water tank to a small plot of ground.

And in the plot were more than 100 thriving marijuana plants, the sheriff's office reported Wednesday.

Deputies said they confiscated the plants and arrested Bradley Thompson, 19, of Three Rivers and Eric Diesel, 21, of Tarzana for investigation of several narcotics violations, including cultivating marijuana.

Bob Dylan's Wife Receives Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Bob Dylan, who once recorded a love song to his wife Sarah, has divorced her after 11 years of marriage. They have five children.

A spokesman for Dylan, one of the most influential pop musicians of the late 1960s, said the divorce was granted Wednesday in Santa Monica Superior Court.

The court retained jurisdiction over the couple's community property, including Dylan's real estate holdings, songwriting royalties and other investments. The division of the property will be made later, the spokesman said.

HEARING HELD FOR AGING — A hearing was held at Pickaway Community Center on programs and funding for Pickaway Senior Citizens. Officials at the meeting were, seated, from the left, Ardith Lynch, administrator, Central Ohio Area Agency on Aging; Vera Saunders, senior services coordinator; standing, Bill Smith, president of the Pickaway County Council on Aging; Pickaway County Commissioners Carl Schein, Donald Strous and L. Robert Liston. Mrs. Lynch reported she was impressed by the fact that so many of those attending the hearing expressed a need for training "not only for those of us who work in the field but for all senior citizens." The training needed is in the area of filling out federal forms and in advocacy.

Strip Mine Bill Near Completion

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate conferees are ready to put the finishing touches on a compromise strip mining bill that will affect 60 per cent of the coal produced in the United States.

President Carter has indicated he will sign the legislation, which would require companies to return mining sites to their original contours. Similar bills were vetoed twice by former President Gerald R. Ford.

A final vote was scheduled today by the conference committee, which has reached compromises on most major differences in the House-approved bill and the less stringent version passed by the Senate.

However, the conferees tentatively agreed Wednesday to approve, in modified form, two crucial exemptions voted by the Senate.

One would give small Appalachian strip mine operators more time — until January 1979 — to meet the new standards. The Senate-passed bill had called for a two-year exemption while the House version contained no provision for small operators.

The other exemption would allow the flat bench-like land created by strip mining to be left in that form in certain circumstances.

Under the compromise, the flat land could be used for certain specific purposes deemed in the public interest — such as sites for housing projects, hospitals and recreation facilities.

Sen. Wendell Ford, D-Ky., the Senate sponsor of this exemption, said flat land is at a premium in the hilly terrain of Appalachia — even if it results from strip mine excavations. But environmentalists said the compromise goes too far, weakening the standards passed by the House. "The House has given enough away already. This is one issue that has no compromise," said John McCormick, a lobbyist for the Environmental Policy Center.

One issue still to be resolved was whether, in addition to leaving the flat areas behind, strip mine operators could also leave, in some cases, the clifflike "highwalls" that mark strip mine excavations in mountain areas. Sen. Ford said this should be permitted in rare instances. But Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., the conference chairman, said allowing the highwalls to remain would "violate the central principle of this bill ... that the land is going to be restored."

Amy Carter Said Good Reader

WASHINGTON (AP) — According to the White House, Amy Carter is bright, a good reader, highly motivated, and a potential leader.

Those were the qualifications demanded of entrants for an "enrichment program" at George Washington University's Reading Center, and the White House said Amy is among them. The President's nine-year-old daughter, who will be a fifth grader in the fall at a local public school, will attend the class two hours a day, four days a week through July 22.

Museum officials and reading specialists will help Amy and a dozen or so other children to read, compile handbooks and do independent research on the theme of transportation.

BIRD'S EYE VIEW — Pictured above are the new grain silos at the Pickaway Grain Company in Circleville, looking north toward U.S. Route 23 atop the older silos immediately beside the newer models. Richard Bowers, manager of the Pickaway Grain Company, told the Herald that the sidewalls are up, and the roof deck is to be poured Friday. Bowers stated that construction crews have been pouring concrete 24 hours a day, and as soon as the top deck is finished they will resume regular working hours. The workers progress was approximately one foot upward every hour on the eight bins which are 30 feet in diameter with a seven foot spread between each round bin. When finished, the new facilities will hold approximately 750,000 bushels of grain, and will boost the total storage capacity of Pickaway Grain's Circleville facility to 1,800,000 bushels. The Stout Construction Company of Sylvania, Ohio is the firm handling the project.

Solons Continue Abortion Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House and Senate are preparing to clash over their separate efforts to restrict the use of federal funds for abortions after a Supreme Court ruling that the government can stop paying for the operations with Medicaid funds.

Under the Supreme Court decision, Medicaid-funded abortions are expected to be halted sometime in the next 25 days.

The Senate laid the groundwork Wednesday for renewed conflict with the House on the abortion issue.

Senators used a $60.6-billion appropriation bill that contains funds for the Labor Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, to lay out restrictions on the use of federal funds for abortions.

But the Senate's restrictions were more liberal than those sought by the House, setting up a direct conflict between the two chambers for the second straight year.

The House approved wording that would make it illegal to use federal funds for abortions under any circumstances.

But the Senate adopted language that would allow the government to pay for abortions for poor women if the operation was necessary to save the mother's life or in cases of pregnancy by rape or incest. The Senate passed the entire appropriations bill 71 to 18.

The House version of the appropriations bill calls for spending of $61.3 billion, so a conference committee made up of representatives of both chambers will have to resolve that in addition to their differences on funding of abortions.

Only hours before the Senate voted its approval of both the abortion provision and the complete appropriations bill, the Supreme Court cleared the way for HEW officials to enforce an earlier congressional prohibition against using Medicaid funds for abortions.

Congress had approved that prohibition, known as the Hyde Amendment, last year. The amendment barred the use of federal funds for abortion except in cases where the woman's life was in danger.

But a federal court in New York declared the amendment unconstitutional and HEW was compelled under that court order to continue paying out Medicaid funds for abortions.

The payments, paid primarily through state Medicaid programs, provided for an estimated 300,000 abortions at a cost of about $50 million last year.

In its ruling Wednesday, the Supreme Court nullified the judgment of U.S. District Judge John F. Dooling Jr. of Brooklyn, N.Y., who had issued an injunction to keep HEW officials from cutting off federal funds used for abortions.

The high court sent the case back to Dooling "for further consideration" in light of another Supreme Court ruling issued two weeks ago. In that case, the high court decided that neither the Constitution nor the Social Security Act require the government to finance abortions through Medicaid.

There were indications the high court's action will force Dooling to lift his injunction when he receives official word of the Supreme Court decision. That will be within the next 25 days.

President Blocks B1

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter declared today that "we should not continue with production" of the B1 bomber, but that testing and research will go on.

At a nationally broadcast news conference, Carter said he also has decided that the United States should begin deployment of the cruise missile, which he described as a key alternative to the costly, controversial bomber.

The President said the weapons program would go ahead while he assesses progress in the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks with the Soviet Union. The cruise missile has been a point of major controversy in these talks.

Carter had opposed the B1 during his campaign for the White House, but had indicated he was reconsidering the new bomber. He said his verdict against it was supported by Secretary of Defense Harold Brown.

BIRD'S EYE VIEW — Pictured above are the new grain silos at the Pickaway Grain Company in Circleville, looking north toward U.S. Route 23 atop the older silos immediately beside the newer models. Richard Bowers, manager of the Pickaway Grain Company, told the Herald that the sidewalls are up, and the roof deck is to be poured Friday. Bowers stated that construction crews have been pouring concrete 24 hours a day, and as soon as the top deck is finished they will resume regular working hours. The workers progress was approximately one foot upward every hour on the eight bins which are 30 feet in diameter with a seven foot spread between each round bin. When finished, the new facilities will hold approximately 750,000 bushels of grain, and will boost the total storage capacity of Pickaway Grain's Circleville facility to 1,800,000 bushels. The Stout Construction Company of Sylvania, Ohio is the firm handling the project.

Solons Continue Abortion Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House and Senate are preparing to clash over their separate efforts to restrict the use of federal funds for abortions after a Supreme Court ruling that the government can stop paying for the operations with Medicaid funds.

Under the Supreme Court decision, Medicaid-funded abortions are expected to be halted sometime in the next 25 days.

The Senate laid the groundwork Wednesday for renewed conflict with the House on the abortion issue.

Senators used a $60.6-billion appropriation bill that contains funds for the Labor Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, to lay out restrictions on the use of federal funds for abortions.

But the Senate's restrictions were more liberal than those sought by the House, setting up a direct conflict between the two chambers for the second straight year.

The House approved wording that would make it illegal to use federal funds for abortions under any circumstances.

But the Senate adopted language that would allow the government to pay for abortions for poor women if the operation was necessary to save the mother's life or in cases of pregnancy by rape or incest. The Senate passed the entire appropriations bill 71 to 18.

The House version of the appropriations bill calls for spending of $61.3 billion, so a conference committee made up of representatives of both chambers will have to resolve that in addition to their differences on funding of abortions.

Only hours before the Senate voted its approval of both the abortion provision and the complete appropriations bill, the Supreme Court cleared the way for HEW officials to enforce an earlier congressional prohibition against using Medicaid funds for abortions.

Congress had approved that prohibition, known as the Hyde Amendment, last year. The amendment barred the use of federal funds for abortion except in cases where the woman's life was in danger.

But a federal court in New York declared the amendment unconstitutional and HEW was compelled under that court order to continue paying out Medicaid funds for abortions.

The payments, paid primarily through state Medicaid programs, provided for an estimated 300,000 abortions at a cost of about $50 million last year.

In its ruling Wednesday, the Supreme Court nullified the judgment of U.S. District Judge John F. Dooling Jr. of Brooklyn, N.Y., who had issued an injunction to keep HEW officials from cutting off federal funds used for abortions.

The high court sent the case back to Dooling "for further consideration" in light of another Supreme Court ruling issued two weeks ago. In that case, the high court decided that neither the Constitution nor the Social Security Act require the government to finance abortions through Medicaid.

There were indications the high court's action will force Dooling to lift his injunction when he receives official word of the Supreme Court decision. That will be within the next 25 days.

Budget Chronology Shown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — As the new fiscal biennium nears July 1, here is a chronology of legislative action on the state's nearly $13 billion, 1977-79 budget and the companion $1.54 billion transportation and highway safety budget.

Jan. 25 — Budget director unveils Gov. James A. Rhodes' executive budget.

Feb. 3 — At request of Rhodes, a Republican, budget bill introduced by Democratic House Finance chairman.

March 10 — Finance chairman introduces separate bill for budget of Department of Transportation, which derives most of its funds from highway use and gasoline taxes and federal monies.

March 15 — Majority Democrats begin private meetings. They remove most language from budget and place in a separate bill to discourage line item vetoes by Rhodes.

March 28 — House Finance Committee approves rewritten budget, cutting more than $90 million from Rhodes plan despite unanimous opposition from Republican committee members.

May 4 — Full House approves budget; sends it to Senate, facing June 30 deadline for return of the plan to Rhodes.

June 15 — House Finance Committee approves $1.54 billion budget for departments of transportation and highway safety, the latter agency's appropriation added to the bill.

June 16 — Senate Finance Committee adds more than $100 million to House version of main budget bill, votes it out of committee, against GOP opposition.

June 21 — Full Senate approves budget 27-6, six Republicans joining Democrats. Bill returned to House, to resolve differences. Meanwhile, House approves transportation and highway safety budget, 56-31, with opposing votes coming from Republicans, objecting to spending restraints placed on Highway Patrol.

June 28 — House and Senate conferrees approve the budget, after resolving differences between the two chambers and adding some new items. The Senate accepts the conference report but the House fails by one vote to approve it. The defeat is attributed to a boycott by 10 black members, apparently protesting restrictions put on a state subsidy to the predominantly black Central State

Farm Price Index Shows Sharp Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's farm price index, which includes major crops and meat animals, dropped 5 per cent between May 15 and June 15, the sharpest decline in 20 months.

Lower prices for soybeans, grain, beef cattle, vegetables and fruits were the main factors in the decline, the Agriculture Department said Wednesday.

Higher prices for hogs and milk helped moderate the overall decline. The decline was the first since farm product prices dropped 3 per cent from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15 and began climbing for six consecutive months.

According to USDA records, the May-June price drop was the sharpest since the index declined 5 per cent from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15, 1975.

As of mid-June, farm prices averaged 6 per cent below a year ago, the Department's Crop Reporting Board said. Meanwhile, prices which farmers pay to meet expenses also declined .5 per cent from May 15 but still averaged 5 per cent more than on June 15 last year.

The report said that the farm price of wheat was $2 a bushel, down from $2.29 on May 15 and $3.42 a bushel a year ago.

Corn was $2.09 a bushel, compared with $2.21 on May 15 and $2.74 on June 15 of last year.

University.

June 29 — Senate and House pass the budget and send it to Gov. James A. Rhodes after Democratic leaders put down the rebellion by black lawmakers without responding to their complaint about the Central State appropriation.

July 1 — Deadline for passage of new budget to be used for next two years.

Soybeans, which had set near-record prices earlier, were $8.18 a bushel at mid-June against $9.40 on May 15 and $6.16 a year ago, the report said.

The price of meat animals as a group declined 3 per cent during the month, although hog prices at $41.90 per hundred pounds were up from $40.70 on May 15. Beef cattle were $36.10 per hundred weight against $36.10 in May.

The index of vegetable prices dropped 9 per cent during the month, and fruit prices were 5 per cent below their May 15 average.

The department's parity ratio, which relates farm prices with cost, was 67 per cent on June 15 compared with 70 per cent in May and 74 per cent on June 15 of last year.

Resettlement Office Closes

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Sixteen months after its creation, the Indiana Indochinese Resettlement Office has gone out of business, its mission virtually complete.

"We have done a pretty good job in helping the newcomer here," said Nguyen Kim Thanh of the State Welfare Department. Thanh fled Saigon in 1975 when Communist forces overthrew the government of South Vietnam. He lives in Noblesville now with his family and says his adjustment from a refugee camp in Pennsylvania to his new life in Indiana was a smooth one.

Thanh came to the welfare department in August 1975 and seven months later took on the jobs of handling the resettlement program and publishing a bilingual newsletter, "Hoosier Hope."

Since then, more than 2,100 Indochinese, including Vietnamese, Laotians and Cambodians, have been settled in Indiana, Thanh said. Most have found jobs and are self-sufficient.

Steel Firms Sign Pact On Pollution

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Republic and U.S. Steel corporations signed pollution control agreements today in what was described as a major step toward solving water pollution problems in the Mahoning River.

Also signing the agreements were the Ohio Environment Protection Agency, Western Reserve Economic Development Agency, the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources and the cities of Youngstown and Warren.

"The signing of these documents is a positive step toward the cleanup of one of Ohio's most dramatic water pollution problems," said Ned Williams, director of the Ohio EPA. "We will issue the actual permits and abatement orders as soon as the Mahoning Water Quality Standards are finalized."

The EPA, which conducted hearings on the standards earlier this month, is expected to complete action on them by late this summer.

"All of the parties involved have worked very hard to develop control programs which will insure decent water quality in the Mahoning and maintain the economic integrity in this portion of the state," Williams said.

The agreements stipulate that there will be no appeal of the permits and that the adjudication hearings requested by Republic and U.S. Steel will be withdrawn. An abatement order will be issued with the permits specifying exactly what steps must be taken to meet water quality standards.

Purdue Trustees Set Public Meets

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — After 108 years, Purdue University trustees must give up their practice of meeting in private on the night before their bi-monthly open meetings.

Indiana's "open door" law, effective Sept. 1, prohibits executive sessions for most governmental bodies.

Purdue trustees, in their Thursday night closed meetings, have heard administrative reports and student representatives, discussed agenda items and frequently came up with tentative decisions.

At the public meeting, the board would then approve measures, often with little debate and generally by a unanimous vote.

Don Ameche Stars In Dinner Theatre

CELEBRATING — Mel Miller as John Boothe, Don Ameche as Salvatore Bustebrizzio, celebrate the day they become citizens with Sal's daughter-in-law Sarah B as Dorothy Boothe. All can be seen in the comedy, "Never Get Smart With an Angel," presently showing at Reynoldsburg Country Dinner Playhouse.

The triangle of religion, patriotism and love leads to several hilarious situations during the play, "Never Get Smart With an Angel," starring Don Ameche, at Reynoldsburg Country Dinner Playhouse.

Don Ameche, who first attained national recognition as a radio personality, enthralled the dinner audience with his humorous antics.

He was joined by other hilarious cast members including his best friend Carmine Sostento, by Irwin Charone and his angel wife Lucia by Mary Hennessy.

The famous Ameche started his career as the master of ceremonies on the original Chase and Sanborn show and the radio series "Grand Hotel". These along with other radio programs made him a household name.

In 1936 he went on a one picture deal at 20th Century Fox. That film "Sins of May" was so successful that Fox Studios immediately took up his option and signed him to a longterm contract.

Several movies followed with such hits as "Alexander's Ragtime Band", "Swanee River," and "The Story of Alexander Graham Bell."

Television was a natural medium for this suave leading man and he was featured on such programs as "International Showtime," and "To Tell the Truth."

At the Country Dinner Playhouse Ameche portrays the roll of Salvatore, a Catholic Italian immigrant, whose life is thrown into an uproar when his son announces plans of marrying a Protestant girl. Salvatore's hilarious lamentations of his son's doom are heard by his old Italian buddy Carmine and his wife who has been in heaven for seven years knitting wings for angels.

The play is truly a unique and delightful comedy that the whole family will enjoy. It will run through July 31 at the playhouse. Reservations include a buffet dinner and the play.

Cold Front Brings Rain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A fast-moving cold front from the northwest made its way across the plains. Areas of very heavy thunderstorms developed ahead of the system both in the north and to the south.

One tornado was reported east of Sioux Falls, South Dakota while hail was reported 20 to 30 miles east of Fargo, North Dakota. There were no damage or injury reports.

Early this morning, very heavy to intense thunderstorms were reported from southern Wisconsin across northwestern Iowa and into eastern Nebraska. Other thunderstorms were scattered along the Florida Keys, the southern Appalachians and in the upper Rio Grande valley.

Early morning temperatures around the nation ranged from 42 at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. to 101 at Needles, Calif.

Showers and thunderstorms were expected to be scattered over the south Atlantic and the eastern and central Gulf Coast states today.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearce and Melissa McCabe spent Tuesday with the Girl Scouts at Camp Miska.

Mrs. Kathryn DeLong has been released after having been a patient at Berger Hospital.

The rites of Holy Communion will be given at the morning worship service at St. Jacob's Lutheran Church on Sunday, July 3.

Bible Study at St. Jacob's will be on Tuesday evening, July 5 at 7:30 p.m.

Confirmation class for the combined St. Jacobs - Trinity Congregation will be at St. Jacobs Church on Wednesday, July 6 at 10 a.m.

The phone number of St. Jacob's pastor, David Pettersen, is 477-1519.

We wish a belated "Happy Birthday" to Mrs. Edith McJunkin who observed her 85th birthday last week.

Also, congratulations to Ray and Betty McJunkin who observed their 30th anniversary and Betty's birthday on Tuesday, June 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Miller hosted the June meeting of the King's Helpers Class in the Methodist social room on Saturday evening, June 25th.

Members sang "Bringing in the Sheaves" and "My Redeemer" and president Lloyd Spung opened the business meeting with prayer.

Reports were given by Betty McJunkin and Mabel Cox. Plans are being made to have the class meeting at the Reverend Shaum's Twentieth Century Home for Boys in September.

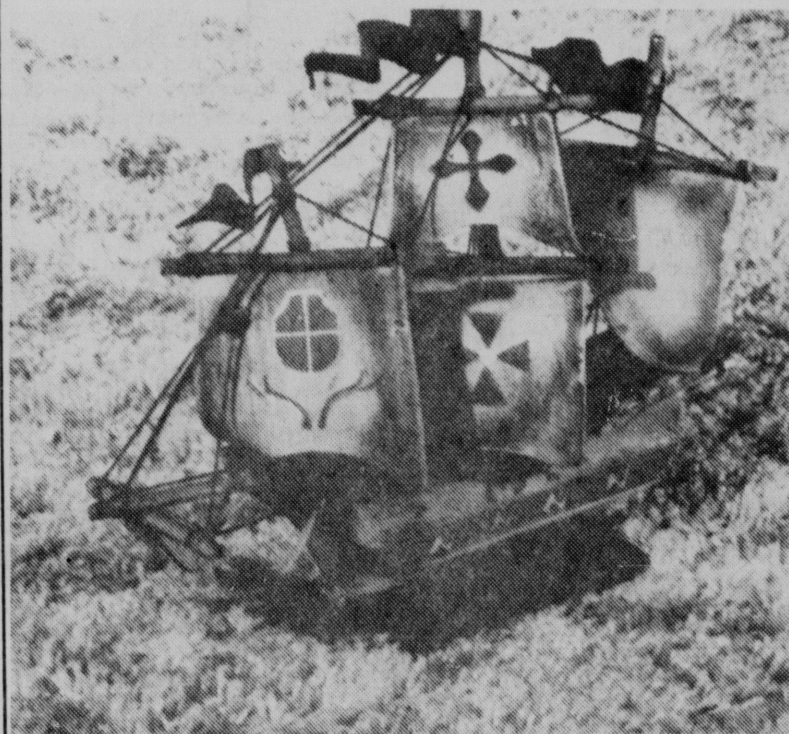

Mrs. Miller gave readings "My Get Up and Go Has Got Up and Went" "Friendship" and "What is a Flag?"

Refreshments were served by the Millers to Lloyd and Roanne Spung, Ray and Betty McJunkin, George and Bertha O'Hara, Cleo Good, Mabel Cox and Ruth Hunt.

Views On Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — NBC News, reacting a bit late to rumors of a market for lightweight news, tonight is airing an hour of journalistic gossamer called "Now." It may wind up as a series.

NBC calls it "a mixture of news and entertainment." With apologies to "Star Trek," tonight's effort needs this announcement: "Trivia — the final frontier. These are the voyages of 'Now.'"

"Its mission — to explore new fads, to seek out new trends and new lifestyles, to boldly go where neither 'Who's Who' nor 'People' magazine have gone before." Alas, this tour, cohosted by Jack Perkins and Linda Ellerbee, who each seem to be smiling under duress, does not raise trivia to particularly new heights.

Earnestly jovial, the show declares reggae, the Jamaican pop music, the coming thing. And in the process hypes a new reggae show that Michael Butler, who gave America "Hair," is producing for Broadway.

The most notable happening in this piece comes when Butler, seated in a Jamaican recording studio, casually asks reggae singer Max Romeo: "How about coming up to New York on Monday?"

No doubt to avoid charges of excess frippery, there's a Serious Segment on the much reported Fathers' Rights Movement.

But other items include future nostalgia compiled by a UCLA dean and a new movement called "rebirth" where the rebirther recreates the prenatal experience by floating stark naked in a redwood tub.

You may doze through a segment on how women's lib views the new fashions of French designer Yves St. Laurent, the guy they always chronicle when Farrah Fawcett-Majors isn't available.

But stay alert for the piece on the increasing use of copying machines as tools of art, if only to hear a New York artist say: "There's a certain spontaneity in using a Xerox machine that I get..."

It's a shame that Ms. Ellerbee, who usually covers Capitol Hill, and Burbank-based Perkins, who has a wry, whimsical style, were induced to have a go at "Now." It wastes their talents.

The show, the set of which resembles a white waiting room decorated by tranquilized Cubists, tries to be flashy as all get-out.

It even has a neon "Now" that blinks on and off in the manner of a safe sign advertising "Eats . . . eats . . . eats."

But flash doesn't prevent it from coming across as just another tube version of People magazine, arriving in a market already swamped by bulletins on whom The Fonz is dating these days.

Nor does it help that in reporting throwaway news its style is akin to that of an exsquare who lets his crewcut grow, attends a rock concert and cries, "Man, that Peter Frampton plays a mean ax!"

Methinks the best thing NBC News could do with trendy "Now" after tonight is declare it passe or retile the thing "Who Cares?" and see if Charlie's Angels will agree to anchor it.

Tattooed Family

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio (AP) — The Bielfelt family is known for making a lasting impression.

George Bielfelt is a tattoo artist. So are his wife, Renee, and 21-year-old son, Hugh. Daughter Lauren, 17, is learning the trade. And George Jr., 11, also wants to follow the family tradition.

Four of the five Bielfelt children are tattooed. George Jr. acquired a red heart at the age of eight. Bielfelt and his wife have several tattoos. The family's toy poodle is tattooed on the inside of its hind legs.

Bielfelt, a tattoo artist for the past 16 years, opened a new tattoo shop here recently. Tattooing is illegal in Cleveland but permitted in Willoughby.

The last change in U.S. coinage came in 1857, when the half-penny was dropped.

The Nuremberg Egg, an egg-sized timepiece meant to be worn on a chain, is considered the forerunner of the modern watch. Developed in 1505, it only told the hours and was accurate to within two or three hours a day.

Nixon May Continue Tapes Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although Richard M. Nixon has suffered a major defeat in his attempts to keep the record of his presidency from becoming public, he may be able to block for years the release of the most sensitive White House tapes and documents.

The Supreme Court on Tuesday upheld, 7-2, a law giving the government control of the 880 tape recordings and 42 million pages of documents he left behind when he resigned in disgrace.

Search Widens For 'Son Of Sam'

NEW YORK (AP) — "Son of Sam," the .44-caliber killer, has captured New York.

The police department added 10 detectives Tuesday to the 50 officers already working full-time to catch "Son of Sam." It has spent more than $1 million on what has become one of the biggest manhunts in the city's history, and is now canvassing some 2,000 agencies, clubs and businesses to try to track his weapon.

The New York Daily News offered a $10,000 reward Tuesday for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer.

The communities of Queens and the Bronx, where "Son of Sam" has struck seven times in 11 months are terrified despite beefed-up police patrols.

Eleven persons were shot in those attacks, the first on July 29, 1976, the latest last Sunday morning. Four women and one man died. One woman remains paralyzed.

In five incidents, "Son of Sam" came up on parked cars from the rear and fired through side windows. In four of the attacks, the victims had just been to a discotheque or movie.

The killer uses the same weapon — a .44-caliber Charter Arms Bulldog revolver. Only 28,000 such guns have been made, and police hope to track them all through their questionnaires.

The revolver carries five bullets, but "Son of Sam" is believed to fire only four shots in his attacks; psychiatrists believe he saves the fifth bullet to take Congress passed the law in 1974, determining that Nixon was not a "reliable custodian" of the material. The law made Nixon, forced from office by the Watergate scandal, the first president kept from controlling his own presidential materials.

The high court said Congress had acted within its authority.

The court said the 1974 act did not violate the separation of powers between the legislative and executive branches of government. The court also held the law did not violate Nixon's right to privacy or his presidential privilege of confidentiality.

The law left it to the General Services Administration, caretaker of the tapes and documents, to devise regulations governing the material to be made public. Congress will have to approve those rules, which are not yet in their final form.

Under the law, government archivists will sift through the huge amount of material to determine what portion of it is private or essential to national security and what portion is of "general historic value."

The law also gives Nixon the right to challenge all decisions by the archivists on the material to be made public.

It would be possible, therefore, for Nixon to legally challenge every piece of material earmarked for public consumption.

"I think that there will be a great deal of material that I would assume would not be challenged," said James Rhodes, the archivist of the United States. "But for a small amount of material of the most sensitive character, it is conceivable that we could be tied up in court for a long time," he said.

Matters of national security will be kept secret by the government.

On future effects of the decision, Justice William H. Rehnquist, who with Chief Justice Warren E. Burger dissented from the court's action, said the decision "countenances the power of any future Congress to seize the official papers of an out-going president as he leaves the inaugural stand."

Justice John Paul Stevens rebutted Rehnquist's contention, saying Nixon was in a legal class by himself.

"Appellant resigned his office under unique circumstances and accepted a pardon for offenses committed while in office," Stevens said. "By so doing, he placed himself in a different class from all other presidents."

In another decision, the court ruled in the case of "human cannonball" Hugo Zacchini that recording entertainment events for use on news programs does not necessarily fall within the media's constitutional protection from damage suits.

PUBLIC NOTICE

FINAL PLAN FOR SOCIAL SERVICES IN OHIO
JULY 1, 1977 — JUNE 30, 1978

The Final Plan for Ohio has been published in accordance with Title XX of the Social Security Act, enacted by Public Law 93-647, and is available for review by the public.

PURPOSE

The purpose of the plan is to provide Ohio with social services that will enable residents of Ohio to restore, maintain or improve their capabilities for self-support (Goal I), self-sufficiency (Goal II), to prevent or remedy neglect, abuse, or exploitation, or to preserve families (Goal III), to provide community based care (Goal IV), and where necessary to provide improved institutional care (Goal V).

Application for social services will be accepted by the local County Welfare Department which has responsibility to administer the service program under supervision of the Ohio Department of Public Welfare.

EXPLANATION OF DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE PROPOSED AND FINAL CASP

Plan Design and Format

The Final Plan has been redesigned in Section III of the document with the introduction of all county profiles by geographical area showing all services that would be available in each county.

Service Definitions

The following social services have been changed with respect to definitions and service title adjustments:

Services modified:	Campership Day Care for Adults Day Care for Children Family Planning Health-Related Transportation
Services revised:	Employment & Training (non-WIN) Information & Referral Protective Service for Children Residential Treatment
Services deleted:	Emergency Shelter Mental Health/Mental Retardation Services
Services added:	Mental Retardation Assessment Services Psychotherapeutic Services

Mandated Services

The Final Plan has been changed with the introduction of one additional mandated service — Homemaker/Home Health Aide.

The mandated services have been presented by eligible category with goals deleted. Emergency Shelter was mandated in the Proposed Plan, but deleted as a service in the Final Plan, and incorporated into Protective Service for Children which is a mandated service. Mental Health/Mental Retardation Service was mandated but since this service was deleted and converted into two separate distinct services, the mandate status was deleted. Therefore, the Final Plan shows fifteen mandated statewide services. The Final Plan shows reduction of mandated categories of eligible persons. The Plan shows the deletion of mandates for income eligible persons from the services of Adoption, Day Care (non-WIN), Foster Care for Adults, and Health-Related. The Plan shows addition of mandated categories of persons eligible for Counseling, Day Care (non-WIN), Employment and Training (non-WIN), Foster Care for Adults, and Protective Payee.

Eligibility

Coordination & Utilization — Section II

The Final Plan shows the addition of information relative to services to the substance abuse population.

Estimated Title XX Expenditures and Resources

The Final Plan shows a revision of the estimated expenditures and resources based upon new information from HEW and recalculations of anticipated state and local resources.

GENERAL SUMMARY ON REASONS FOR CHANGES

The general reasons for the changes are 1) information is more readable, 2) changes made to more closely conform to federal requirements, 3) the Final Plan is more comprehensive in scope, & 4) changes were made based upon public comments and new funding information.

REVIEW OF PUBLIC COMMENTS

Public comments received on the Proposed Plan are available for review and will be retained for public review for the next three (3) program years. Review can be arranged through the Division of Social Services, Ohio Department of Public Welfare, 30th Floor, 30 East Broad Street, Columbus, Ohio 43215.

LOS ANGELES (AP) —
NBC News, reacting a bit late to rumors of a market for lightweight news, tonight is airing an hour of journalistic gossamer called "Now." It may wind up as a series.

NBC calls it "a mixture of news and entertainment." With apologies to "Star Trek," tonight's effort needs this announcement: "Trivia — the final frontier. These are the voyages of 'Now.'"

"Its mission — to explore new fads, to seek out new trends and new lifestyles, to boldly go where neither 'Who's Who' nor People magazine have gone before."

Alas, this tour, cohosted by Jack Perkins and Linda Ellerbee, who each seem to be smiling under duress, does not raise trivia to particularly new heights.

Earnestly jovial, the show declares reggae, the Jamaican pop music, the coming thing. And in the process hypes a new reggae show that Michael Butler, who gave America "Hair," is producing for Broadway.

The most notable happening in this piece comes when Butler, seated in a Jamaican recording studio, casually asks reggae singer Max Romeo: "How about coming up to New York on Monday?"

No doubt to avoid charges of excess frippery, there's a Serious Segment on the much reported Fathers' Rights Movement.

But other items include future nostalgia compiled by a UCLA dean and a new movement called "rebirth" where the rebirth recreates the prenatal experience by floating stark naked in a redwood tub.

You may doze through a segment on how women's lib views the new fashions of French designer Yves St.
Laurent, the guy they always chronicle when Farrah Fawcett-Majors isn't available.

But stay alert for the piece on the increasing use of copying machines as tools of art, if only to hear a New York artist say: "There's a certain spontaneity in using a Xerox machine that I get . . ."

It's a shame that Ms.
Ellerbee, who usually covers Capitol Hill, and Burbankbased Perkins, who has a wry, whimsical style, were induced to have a go at
"Now." It wastes their talents.

The show, the set of which resembles a white waiting room decorated by tranquilized Cubists, tries to be flashy as all get-out.

It even has a neon "Now" that blinks on and off in the manner of a cafe sign advertising "Eats . . . eats . . .
eats."

But flash doesn't prevent it from coming across as just another tube version of People magazine, arriving in a market already swamped by bulletins on whom The Fonz is dating these days.

Nor does it help that in reporting throwaway news its style is akin to that of an exsquare who lets his crewcut grow, attends a rock concert and cries, "Man, that Peter Frampton plays a mean ax!"

Methinks the best thing NBC News could do with trendy "Now" after tonight is declare it passe or retile the thing "Who Cares?" and see if Charlie's Angels will agree to anchor it.

Tattooed Family

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio (AP) —
The Bielefeld family is known for making a lasting impression.

George Bielefeld is a tattoo artist. So are his wife, Renee, and 21-year-old son, Hugh.
Daughter Lauren, 17, is learning the trade. And George Jr., 11, also wants to follow the family tradition.

Four of the five Bielefeld children are tattooed. George Jr. acquired a red heart at the age of eight. Bielefeld and his wife have several tattoos. The family's toy poodle is tattooed on the inside of its hind legs.

Bielefeld, a tattoo artist for the past 16 years, opened a new tattoo shop here recently. Tattooing is illegal in Cleveland but permitted in Willoughby.

The last change in U.S. coinage came in 1857, when the half-penny was dropped.

The Nuremberg Egg, an egg-sized timepiece meant to be worn on a chain, is considered the forerunner of the modern watch. Developed in 1505, it only told the hours and was accurate to within two or three hours a day.

Nixon May Continue Tapes Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although Richard M. Nixon has suffered a major defeat in his attempts to keep the record of his presidency from becoming public, he may be able to block for years the release of the most sensitive White House tapes and documents.

The Supreme Court on Tuesday upheld, 7-2, a law giving the government control of the 880 tape recordings and 42 million pages of documents he left behind when he resigned in disgrace.

Search Widens
For 'Son Of Sam'

NEW YORK (AP) — "Son of Sam," the .44-caliber killer, has captured
New York.

The police department added 10 detectives Tuesday to the 50 officers already working full-time to catch "Son of Sam." It has spent more than $1 million on what has become one of the biggest manhunts in the city's history, and is now canvassing some 2,000 agencies, clubs and businesses to try to track his weapon.

The New York Daily News offered a $10,000 reward Tuesday for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer.

The communities of Queens and the Bronx, where "Son of Sam" has struck seven times in 11 months are terrified despite beefed-up police patrols.

Eleven persons were shot in those attacks, the first on July 29, 1976, the latest last Sunday morning. Four women and one man died. One woman remains paralyzed.

In five incidents, "Son of Sam" came up on parked cars from the rear and fired through side windows. In four of the attacks, the victims had just been to a discotheque or movie.

The killer uses the same weapon — a .44-caliber Charter Arms Bulldog revolver. Only 28,000 such guns have been made, and police hope to track them all through their questionnaires.
The revolver carries five bullets, but "Son of Sam" is believed to fire only four shots in his attacks; psychiatrists believe he saves the fifth bullet to take

Congress passed the law in 1974, determining that Nixon was not a "reliable custodian" of the material.
The law made Nixon, forced from office by the Watergate scandal, the first president kept from controlling his own presidential materials.

The high court said Congress had acted within its authority.

The court said the 1974 act did not violate the separation of powers between the legislative and executive branches of government. The court his own life if he is found.

The weapon is most commonly used by sky marshals — officers on commercial flights to prevent skyjackings — because its bullets don't have the velocity to pierce cabin walls.

Despite the similarity in the attacks, police are stymied.

"I think he's a very shrewd person, and he's not doing this just to tantalize us," said Chief of Detectives John Keenan. "He's motivated by an inner force or tension, and when it explodes, he commits a crime. . . . He's a carefully canny person, and he's taken careful precautions not to be caught."

Police say they nearly caught "Son of Sam" after his latest attack when he shot and wounded a young couple following a two-month lull.

Officers were staking out the Elephas Discotheque in Queens but left for another likely target area just moments before the man and woman were wounded as they sat in a car near the nightspot.

FINAL PLAN FOR SOCIAL SERVICES IN OHIO
JULY 1, 1977 — JUNE 30, 1978

The Final Plan for Ohio has been published in accordance with Title XX of the Social Security Act, enacted by Public Law 93-647, and is available for review by the public.

PURPOSE

The purpose of the plan is to provide Ohio with social services that will enable residents of Ohio to restore, maintain or improve their capabilities for self-support (Goal I), self-sufficiency (Goal II), to prevent or remedy neglect, abuse, or exploitation, or to preserve families (Goal III), to provide community based care (Goal IV), and where necessary to provide improved institutional care (Goal V).

Application for social services will be accepted by the local County Welfare Department which has responsibility to administer the service program under supervision of the Ohio Department of Public Welfare.

EXPLANATION OF DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE PROPOSED AND FINAL CASP

Plan Design and Format

The Final Plan has been redesigned in Section III of the document with the introduction of all county profiles by geographical area showing all services that would be available in each county.

Service Definitions

The following social services have been changed with respect to definitions and service title adjustments:

Services modified:	Campership Day Care for Adults Day Care for Children Family Planning Health-Related Transportation
Services revised:	Employment & Training (non-WIN) Information & Referral Protective Service for Children Residential Treatment
Services deleted:	Emergency Shelter Mental Health/Mental Retardation Services
Services added:	Mental Retardation Assessment Services Psychotherapeutic Services

Mandated Services

The Final Plan has been changed with the introduction of one additional mandated service — Homemaker/Home Health Aide.

The mandated services have been presented by eligible category with goals deleted. Emergency Shelter was mandated in the Proposed Plan, but deleted as a service in the Final Plan, and incorporated into Protective Service for Children which is a mandated service. Mental Health/Mental Retardation Service was mandated but since this service was deleted and converted into two separate distinct services, the mandate status was deleted. Therefore, the Final Plan shows fifteen mandated statewide services. The Final Plan shows reduction of mandated categories of eligible persons. The Plan shows the deletion of mandates for income eligible persons from the services of Adoption, Day Care (non-WIN), Foster Care for Adults, and Health-Related. The Plan shows addition of mandated categories of persons eligible for Counseling, Day Care (non-WIN), Employment and Training (non-WIN), Foster Care for Adults, and Protective Payee.

Eligibility

Coordination & Utilization — Section II

The Final Plan shows the addition of information relative to services to the substance abuse population.

Outdone Dads

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Augustine Washington, Peter Jefferson and Josiah Franklin had one thing in common — they were not-so-famous fathers of eminent early Americans, according to Hallmark historian Sally Hopkins.

Augustine Washington, the father of the Father of Our Country, was a Virginia landowner who died when son George was 11. Thomas Jefferson's dad, Peter, was a civil engineer for the British government. Josiah Franklin was a Boston soap and candle maker whose "great excellence lay in prudential matters," said son Ben.

An edible oyster never produces a valuable pearl. Pearl oysters belong to the genus Meleagrina and live in the warm parts of the Pacific Ocean.

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You grasp ideas easily, see benefits to be gained where others only note the obstacles. Use your instincts NOW — and go forward!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A day calling for good judgment. Don't sell any new idea short, and do look for good opportunities which may not be immediately obvious.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Normally, you are not easily deceived, but be especially alert now or you COULD fall for some slick salesmanship.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Some strain in key associations indicated. Probe deeply to find the cause, the better to cope with it effectively. In any case, keep your sense of humor intact.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Avoid tendencies toward haste, emotionalism. Study proffered plans, proposals. New advances indicated, but don't lose interest in current projects.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Shore up sagging productivity, revise the format of programs which seem to get nowhere. A change of pace, direction, momentum may be the answer.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Especially favored now: job and financial interests. Competition may be keen but, where you have the know-how, don't be afraid to get into the race.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Mars influences indicate an extremely active day. Things should move briskly and you with them. Don't scatter energies, however.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Several chances to do even better than usual. Take advantage of all worthwhile opportunities. A good period in which to try out new methods and ideas.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): An excellent day for making travel plans, whether for pleasure or business. Family concerns also governed by friendly aspects.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A good day for trying to push through a unique program. You will get backing from those in authority — IF your approach is deferential.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You could overstep limits now if too strong a desire for a certain attainment causes you to press beyond reasonable boundaries.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a remarkable memory and this, coupled with a strong affinity for heritage and tradition, makes you a "natural" as a historian or chronologist. This feeling for the "old" in any form may also lead you into such fields as archeology, anthropology or other forms of exploration.

You would make an outstanding teacher since you not only have an unceasing quest for knowledge, but are highly gifted at imparting all that you learn. A flair for the dramatic may take you to the stage or politics and a talent for words may express itself in writing — especially for the stage. Traits to curb: jealousy and over possessiveness with loved ones. Birthdate of: Olivia de Havilland, film star.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Avoid tendencies toward haste, emotionalism. Study proffered plans, proposals. New advances indicated, but don't lose interest in current projects.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Shore up sagging productivity, revise the format of programs which seem to get nowhere. A change of pace, direction, momentum may be the answer.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Especially favored now: job and financial interests. Competition may be keen but, where you have the know-how, don't be afraid to get into the race.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Mars influences indicate an extremely active day. Things should move briskly and you with them. Don't scatter energies, however.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Several chances to do even better than usual. Take advantage of all worthwhile opportunities. A good period in which to try out new methods and ideas.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): An excellent day for making travel plans, whether for pleasure or business. Family concerns also governed by friendly aspects.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A good day for trying to push through a unique program. You will get backing from those in authority — IF your approach is deferential.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You could overstep limits now if too strong a desire for a certain attainment causes you to press beyond reasonable boundaries.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a remarkable memory and this, coupled with a strong affinity for heritage and tradition, makes you a "natural" as a historian or chronologist. This feeling for the "old" in any form may also lead you into such fields as archeology, anthropology or other forms of exploration.

You would make an outstanding teacher since you not only have an unceasing quest for knowledge, but are highly gifted at imparting all that you learn. A flair for the dramatic may take you to the stage or politics and a talent for words may express itself in writing — especially for the stage. Traits to curb: jealousy and over possessiveness with loved ones. Birthdate of: Olivia de Havilland, film star.

RETIRING — Mary K. Wolfe, a case worker for the Pickaway County Welfare Department, retired from public employment to do more volunteer work.

Welfare Department Employee Retires

After 35 years of public employment, Mary K. Wolfe of the County Welfare Department retired today.

She was born and raised in Circleville and presently resides at 512 Mowrer Road. Though she enjoys traveling and is a member of the Gypsy Travel Club in Columbus, she always returns to her favorite city.

Before joining the Welfare Department, she worked with the Employment Services and Aid for the Aged.

With the Welfare Department, she was a case worker for Medicaid and nursing home residents. She commented that she liked working with the elderly and will continue to visit the many friends she made through her work in the various nursing homes.

Local Lawson Stores File For Liquor Permits

Ohio Department of Liquor Control Director Clifford E. Reich announced today that applications for new liquor permits and transfers of location or ownership are now being processed by the department.

"The applicant and intended premises are investigated carefully before any decision is made regarding the issuance or denial of a permit," the director explained. "The usual time for the processing of an application is about 45 days."

The department releases the names of persons applying for permits to the news media and to municipal and

A member of the Business and Professional Women's Club, the Community Services Club, Senior Citizens, and the Lutheran Church, her retirement will give her more time to do volunteer work.

She also enjoys painting pictures, traveling, cooking, working outside, and playing cards. Her love of people, which led her to her career, will still continue to be her main interest.

Her co-workers at the Welfare Department held a party for her at the Jai Lai Restaurant in Columbus on June 17.

She said that the party was held early because several other workers were going on vacation and wanted to wish her the best in the future.

county officials for the purpose of obtaining all information pertinent to the application.

"We hope that persons who have objections to permits under consideration will inform the department immediately," Reich said. "We base our judgement to issue or deny on the quota of permits allowed in the area according to population and the findings of our investigations. If the applicant is qualified and there is an opening, we are required by law to issue the permit," the director concluded.

In Pickaway County, the Consolidated Foods Corporation, doing business as Lawson Milk Company, with addresses of 204 Lancaster Pike and 1200 N. Court St., is applying for C1 liquor permits for both businesses.

A C1 permit allows the sale of 3.2 percent beer for carry-out. The applications were filed on June 20, 1977.

Charge Pair With Burglary

The Circleville Police Department arrested two men and charged them with breaking and entering following 1:10 a.m. incident this morning.

According to the report, two employees of the Ted Lewis Park swimming pool received a tip Wednesday that a burglary was to take place Wednesday night or early Thursday morning at the pool.

The men concealed themselves in the concession area of the pool, and at approximately 1:10 a.m. they heard three individuals attempting to enter the concession building through the south side window.

The two employees attempted to confine the three subjects in the concession building, but they escaped. Two were apprehended and the third subject made a getaway.

Sgt. James Francis of the Circleville Police Department investigated the incident. He took the two subjects to police headquarters, where they were charged with breaking and entering.

The two were identified as Charles Wamsley, 19, of 609 S. Washington Street, and Jimmy Lowery, 18, of Second Avenue.

Recover Stolen Truck

A pick-up truck, stolen Monday from its parking place on Pickaway Road east of Route 23, was recovered in a field a half mile south of Lockbourne Wednesday afternoon by Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Terry Frazier.

Wheels and tires had been stolen from the vehicle, and thieves smashed the windshield, headlights, turn signal lights, and passenger side vent window.

The truck, owned by Kenneth Keib Jr., 9859 Shepard Road, Lockbourne, was parked on Pickaway Road in an effort to sell the vehicle, which is valued at $1,800.

The truck was spotted near C & O Railroad tracks 5 p.m. Monday by Garvin and Mary Rollins of Columbus, who were hunting groundhogs.

Second Swim Session Set

Klara Tammany, director of the American Red Cross Water Safety Program, announced today that the first two-week session of swimming will end on Friday.

Another two-week session will begin on Tuesday, July 5.

Children must be enrolled at the Red Cross before going to the pool. Registration cannot be taken by telephone.

Beginner swimming lessons will be conducted at Deer Creek Reservoir starting Tuesday, July 5, and ending July 15, from 9:30 a.m. to 10:15 a.m., with Kevin Langen of Washington C.H. directing that program.

Children will be enrolled there on the first morning of lessons.

Adult Swimming lessons at Circleville Swimming Pool will start Monday, July 11, from 7 to 8 p.m. with Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Blecha in charge. Adult classes will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings for the ensuing three weeks.

Adults, too, should register at the Red Cross before the first night of classes.
